Miracles Do Happen, Prayers Work

By Casey Jones

On Saturday, June 29th, the people of Brodhead were celebrating the freedoms that we enjoy in the United States of America by participating in and observing a parade. One of those freedoms is to believe in God and to worship Him each in our own way.

I was blessed with the opportunity to drive the trailer that transported our veterans. It was in that capacity that I was put in a position to witness a series of events that could, in my opinion, be considered a string of miracles.

As we reached the Legion Park, I stopped the truck and trailer and picked up the Veterans who marched in the parade and displayed our colors. One of them was Ken Joyce.

We turned the corner onto the highway to head back to the post. As the trailer straightened out from the turn, I noticed Ken laying back on the bench and pulled over immediately. I remember going back to help others to get him laid out on the bench. We hollered to Chief Raupp to get 911. He heard us right away and responded immediately. While he was getting to us, two people jumped out of a vehicle that stopped behind us. As I remember, the man said he knew CPR and immediately went to work. After that everything became a whirlwind of action carried out by numerous people. Every person with the same goal, to save a human life. The EMS was not too many entrees in the parade behind us and was immediately on the scene. Within a few minutes there were many others helping. I was amazed at the orchestration of the people involved. Each one doing a different job without getting in the way of the others. They pulled out all the tools of the trade including a mechanical chest compression apparatus.

It looked like the results of their efforts were for not. Five minutes, then 10 minutes, then 15 minutes. It seemed like an eternity, but they were not giving up. Finally, after nearly a half an hour they stabilized Ken enough to transport him to Mercy Hospital.

The members of the Brodhead Area EMS, Brodhead Fire First Response, the Brodhead Police and other members of the community were key in the saving of a man's life. I wish I could acknowledge every single person, but I wouldn't want to miss anyone.

Before I finish, I want to give a shout out to the owner of the Tastee Crème. It was rather hot that day and he provided all the veterans on the float with bottled water.

I think that getting Ken to the hospital alive was a miracle, but that was only the one part of the miracle.

In church on Sunday, it was relayed to us that Ken was not doing well and it didn't look good. That is when the prayers for Ken really intensified. Since then, Ken has regained consciousness, was moved from the Intensive care to Critical care and was speaking with his family. Ken has a long road to recovery and is still not out of the woods. However, with the miracles that have occurred so far, God must have more things on earth for Ken to do.

Monticello Selected as a 2024 AARP Community Challenge Grantee!

The village of Monticello, along with the Monticello Chamber of Commerce, Green County Development Corporation (GCDC), and the Green County Leaders are thrilled to announce that Monticello has been selected to receive a 2024 AARP Community Challenge grant. Monticello was one of only 343 grantees selected (out of 3,300+ applications!) from across all 50 states, Washington D.C, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

At the request of the village, a 2023/2024 Green County Leaders group provided a First Impressions report along with detailed recommendations for community improvements to enhance downtown foot traffic. This report provided support for the application to AARP for the Community Challenge Grant, which awarded $13,700 to Monticello.

With this quick-action grant and additional funding support provided by Toyota Motor North America, Monticello will be able to increase pedestrian safety by improving walkable areas, creating vibrant pedestrian infrastructure and engaging community members. The grant award will provide funding for benches, signage and landscaping that will be installed along key areas of the community and recreational trails to direct people through downtown Monticello.

“We are incredibly proud that AARP selected us for this investment to make Monticello more livable for residents of all ages,” stated GCDC executive director Olivia Otte. “AARP is a nationwide leader in making communities more livable and we are honored that they see the tangible value this project will bring to our area.”

This is all part of AARP’s nationwide work on livable communities, which supports the efforts of neighborhoods, towns, cities and counties across the country to become great places for all. AARP believes that communities should provide safe, walkable streets, affordable and accessible housing and transportation options; access to needed services; and opportunities for residents to participate in community life.

To learn more about the projects being funded by the AARP Community Challenge across the nation, including all 343 granted projects this year, visit aarp.org/CommunityChallenge. An interactive map of current and past AARP Community Challenge projects and AARP’s Livable Communities work can be viewed at aarp.org/livable.

Gathering Waters Presents 2024
Wisconsin Land Trust Days in July,
August, and September

Gathering Waters: Wisconsin's Alliance for Land Trusts launches the seventh annual, statewide Wisconsin Land Trust Days featuring outdoor and nature-themed events from July 1 through September 30, 2024. This year, 20 Wisconsin land trusts will host 45 events that are open to the public.

During Wisconsin Land Trust Days, land trusts invite the public to their properties to help people learn more about the important conservation efforts that are ongoing and to enjoy the beauty of Wisconsin's unique landscapes. Wisconsin land trusts protect nearly 1,800 special places around the state. Many of those protected properties are accessible year-round.

"Wisconsin Land Trust Days is a collaborative effort between Gathering Waters and its member land trusts to help people have fun outside and learn more about conservation,” said Mike Carlson, Executive Director at Gathering Waters. “We hope people leave Wisconsin Land Trust Days events with a better understanding of what land trusts do and feel inspired to visit more land trust properties in the future.”

The 2024 Land Trust Days event line-up offers something for everyone: attendees can hike, bike, learn about pollinators, appreciate nature with a camera or sketchbook, collect prairie seeds for future conservation efforts, build part of the Ice Age National Scenic Trail, and more. Special events include a boat cruise for conservation in Port Washington, a celebration for a Lifetime Achievement Award Winner in Stevens Point, and a scavenger hunt on horseback in Caledonia.

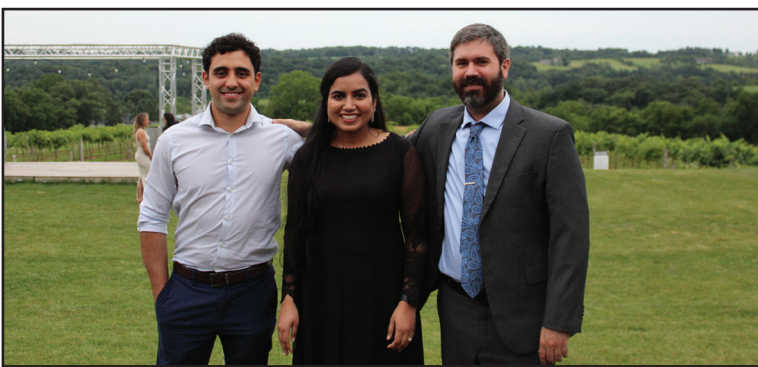

During Land Trust Days, Gathering Waters also provides free printed event calendars and Wisconsin Na-

Green County Small Business Series Ends with Business Pitch Contest

For the second year, Green County Development Corporation (GCDC) and The Bank of New Glarus hosted the Small Business Series and Pitch Contest, a training program for small business owners and aspiring entrepreneurs. The event culminated with participants ‘pitching’ their business idea to a group of judges for a chance to win a cash prize.

Beginning Wednesday, April 3rd, 17 aspiring Green County entrepreneurs participated in weekly sessions that included information on developing their business plan, connecting with a mentor, understanding financing and how to market their business. Each session allowed time for entrepreneurs to network within the group, creating valuable connections and support. Participants were also able to connect 1:1 with Nora Roughen-Schmidt, business consultant for the Southwest Wisconsin Small Business Development Center (SBDC). “This series is an economic development driver that empowers participants with education, resources, consulting, and relationships. It is exciting to participate and assist in developing new businesses in Green County.” Roughen-Schmidt said.

Ron Schaaf, President and CEO of The Bank of New Glarus stated, “The Bank of New Glarus is proud to partner with GCDC on this program. The entrepreneurs who attend have many great ideas, and we wish them all the best as they move forward with opening businesses across Green County.”

The Pitch Contest, sponsored by The Bank of New Glarus provided cash prizes to the top three pitches. Judges ranked presentations on problem identification and solution, target market, competition and unique selling position, business viability, and pitch quality.

Eleven (11) Green County entrepreneurs pitched their business, and included:

First Place—Kindred Spirits Meadery (Stephen Ilzenhuiser): custom mead producer

Second Place—Arrow Acres (Susan Anderson): custom woodworking, hobby farm

Third Place—Small Business Owners Coaching (Marechiel Santos-Lang): group and 1:1 coaching for small business owners

Daisy’s Axe Box (presented by Todd and Brenda Coy): an entertainment company providing axe throwing for private parties and community events

Bellebrook Botanicals (Monica Pastrana): wellness support with small batch herbal products

Whole-Hearted Apothecary (Lula Miller): master herbalist, educational speaker and events

Heidi’s Happy Acres (Heidi Kent): specialty produce, pumpkin and sunflower patch, corn maze and family activities.

Other Pitch presenters included Luke Bacher, Jackie Judd, and Katie Brugger.

“We were excited to have so many enthusiastic entrepreneurs in our area committed to long term success,” stated GCDC Executive Director, Olivia Otte, “One of GCDC’s goals is to foster entrepreneurship, and this program directly connects participants with specialists that can step them through details and keep them on target for opening or growing their business.”

Monroe Clinic & Hospital Foundation Celebrates Record-Breaking Mini Golf Event

The Monroe Clinic & Hospital Foundation’s “Little Golf” and Grill event, held on Tuesday, June 11, was an afternoon of mini golf that led into a night full of generous giving for a great cause.

“Little Golf” and Grill is held annually at Swissland Miniature Golf in New Glarus, with dinner following under the tent at Chalet Landhaus Inn.

The event raised a record-breaking more than $79,600 from countless heartfelt donations provided by community members and businesses. This brought the total raised over the event’s 32 years to over $1,005,000.

“Three decades of commitment from our healthcare team and the community to support and grow local hospice care is an incredible achievement,” shared Jane Sybers, Executive Director of Monroe Clinic & Hospital Foundation, a member of SSM Health. “I have the privilege to share gratitude stories with donors whose loved ones walked through hospice with us. To surpass one-million-dollars is such an incredible milestone and shows how much our community values this meaningful service.”

The evening program walked attendees through the hospice patient journey. During the program, different staff members shared their role in patient care and the impact their patients have on them. To round out the evening, a silent and live auction, that featured popular items such as a pie a month for a year and Adirondack Chair and mini-corn hole games created by Monroe High School’s Manufacturing-2 and Advanced Woods Manufacturing classes, brought forward the competitive spirit of many.

A special thanks goes to the event’s Founding Sponsor, Hans Lenzlinger and family, for all their generosity. The Lenzlinger family, along with Chef Mike and Shawna Nevil, graciously underwrote the entire event, resulting in all the dollars raised going directly to local hospice services. Gratitude also goes to this year’s Diamond Level Sponsors, Kalscheur Family Foundation, Epic, Only in Wisconsin Giving, Incorporated and Deb Thompson.

Farmers of the Sugar River Field Day held

The Farmers of the Sugar River concluded their field day Tuesday, June 18th, east of Monticello at Feller farm. The group was very grateful for the 30 or so farmer and public that attended despite the heat. The majority of the time was spent in the shade of the shed with good discussion and conversation.

The rainfall simulator was presented by Tonya Gratz, Soil Conservationist for the Green County Land and Water Conservation Department and collaborator for the group. She explained the effect of rainfall on the soil. Tonya collected samples from five different land management areas yard grass, established prairie, no till, vertical till, and conventional tilled field. While watching the rainfall simulator you could see the negative affect (soil erosion) that tillage had on the field compared to prairie grass when it rains.

Dane Elmquist, Conservation Cropping Outreach Specialist with UW Extension, educated the farmers and public about earthworms. He described the benefits of earthworms provide in agricultural systems. There are three main classes of worms found in Wisconsin fields. He highlighted that some worms only make vertical tunnels while others go more horizontal. Dane showed a pocket guide put on by Xerces Society for soil invertebrates as bioindicators.

After enjoying lunch provided by the producer led group the event concluded with Jamie Patton, Soil Scientist, chatted about the soil. She and Tim Feller went through the history of the soil management on the farm. Jamie was able to identify the different tillage through the years just by looking at how the soil broke apart. She also discussed the importance of cover crops and roots to improve soil health. The group went to the soil pit and saw where Jamie had used blue tracing dye to show where and how the water infiltrated into the soil. She was able to show water does not uniformly flow through the soil profile it took the path of worm and root channels to get lower in the soil profile.

Farmers of the Sugar River is a producer-led group that is supported by a Department of Agriculture Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) grant. The group works to educate farmers and the public about practices that promote soil health and erosion reduction. They believe if the soil is healthy that there would be minimal erosion, leading to clean surface waters.

The rainfall simulator was run on 5 different soil managements. The buckets contain the water that ran off (still hanging) or infiltrated through the soil profile (on the white board on the ground). Two pans were flipped out on the ground in front. The conventional tilled field still had dry soil at the bottom of the two inch pan after one inch of rain was put on the surface.

Jamie Patton had put blue tracing dye in the infiltration ring and has dug away below to show how water moves through the soil. It follows root and worm channels to wet deeper into the soil.

By Laura Roth,
Children's Librarian

Big thanks to Darcy from Albany, Wyoming who read "Buffalo Fluffalo" to our Summer Library Program story time last week. What a fun story filled with different animals from Wyoming. If you haven't read it yet, it's a good one. Darcy also taught us two more verses of the song "Zoom! Zoom! Zoom! We're going to the moon!" A song that gets into your head and stays there!

We learned about mountains last week, too. Graham crackers make really good 'plates' and pudding is an excellent lava to use when demonstrating how mountains are formed. It's a tasty lesson about plate tectonics. Then we made balloon air canons. The cotton balls were flying around the room.

No Summer Library Program next week. We encourage everyone to visit the Green County Fair. Be sure to come back for two more weeks of SLP: Tuesday, July 23rd (the swamps of Louisiana) and Tuesday, July 30th (the Alaskan Arctic). It's hard to imagine that SLP is almost finished for this year!

The Summer Reading Challenge is going strong. If you haven't signed up for it yet, stop in at Albertson Memorial Library for more information. The Challenge ends Wednesday, July 31st. There's still time! And prizes to win!

You've tried the rest...
Now read the BEST!!

GCDC Celebrates First Year of Home Construction Cooperative

Green County Development Corporation (GCDC) opened the doors to the first project house of the Home Construction Cooperative to celebrate and give recognition to the hard work and support of all involved. In addition to the donation of the home by SSM Health Monroe, GCDC received grant funds and additional donations from local banks, businesses and private donors to provide over $140,000 in support of the program.

The program, which began with the 2023/2024 school year brought Monroe High School, Skilled Building Trades LAUNCH students together to gain in-demand, home renovation and construction skills. With only one hour per day several days per week, students, teachers, and specialty contractors updated and transformed a home donated by SSM Health Monroe.

Students completed bathroom and kitchen demolition and worked alongside local contractors and instructors to learn HVAC, electrical, plumbing, carpentry, masonry and landscaping. The home features new, energy efficient windows and exterior doors, updated plumbing and electric service, new central air unit, and a fully renovated bathroom.

The newly renovated kitchen was designed by students, and includes a small pantry, island, and new appliances. A new patio door and deck were added to open the kitchen space to the outdoors. New vinyl flooring, refinished hardwoods, light fixtures, and accents, along with fresh paint throughout complete the inside.

Additional work included drywall in the garage, freshly poured sidewalk and driveway, new shutters, and exterior lighting, along with landscape clean up and fresh planting. Local contractors provided instruction to teach the students other trades like electrical, plumbing, landscaping, and HVAC.

As students gave tours, attendees noted the “pride in the voices of the students as they explained what they did throughout the school year to transform the home.” GCDC’s Olivia Otte reflected on the community effort that made this project possible, and thanked the donors, attendees, teachers, and students for making the Home Construction Cooperative a huge success.

The home, located on 5th Street in Monroe, will be listed for sale. All proceeds from the sale will be put back into the program to support next year’s new build planned on a vacant parcel donated by the City of Monroe. Program goals include expansion throughout Green County. Inquiries and interest in donating or being a part of the Home Construction Cooperative can be directed to GCDC.

Many thanks go out to the many donors and supporters of the program: SSM Health Monroe, School District of Monroe, Community Foundation of Southern Wisconsin, Inc, Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority (WHEDA), Alliant Energy, The Bank of New Glarus, Woodford State Bank, First Community Credit Union, Green Bay Packer Foundation, Monona Plumbing And Fire Protection Inc, First National Bank and Trust (Monroe, WI), CG Schmidt, Schlect Family Foundation, Builders FirstSource, Prosperity Southwest, Duxstad McDaniel Law Group, SC, Summit Credit Union, Greenwoods State Bank, Buehler Interiors, Kundert Construction , Monroe Morning Optimists, Marine Credit Union, Veridian Homes, Maz Electric, First Weber Realtors-Jeff Twitty Conway, Monroe Lions Club, Father Champions Champions, Monroe Kiwanis, WI, Monson Septic Pumping and Portable Restrooms LLC, Monroe Excellence in Education, Santos Concrete, Josh D Landscaping and Design, The Garden Spot, Green County Master Gardeners Association, Dane’s Lemonade Stand!
