Brodhead Community Band to perform at Twilight in the Park

On Sunday, August 15th, the community is invited to partake in the final Twilight in the Park concert featuring the Brodhead Community Band. This year marks the eighth year of the Brodhead Community Band, which is made up of performers of all ages: from 13 years old to those in their 70s. This summer the band has been rehearsing each Tuesday evening for an hour and a half in preparation for this big event.

The concert begins at 6 p.m. in Veterans Park. The Brodhead Music Boosters will be providing ice cream sundaes during the concert. This year's concert program is full of many different pieces: from marches to medleys and show tunes to swing. They are quite confident that audience members of all ages will enjoy the program they have put together. Please bring a lawn chair so you can sit back, relax and enjoy the performance. They look forward to seeing you there!

Covered Bridge Day Tractor Show

Antique tractors, garden tractors and other antique implements will be on display during covered bridge days north of Gassers hardware. There will be sawmill, thrashing, corn shelling and other demos going on throughout both days.

Kids pedal pull, sponsored by Speich Oil, will start at 10 a.m. on Saturday August 14th. Please come ahead of time to register and get into a class. Prizes will be awarded through the participants and trophies to the top three in each class.

Antique tractor, garden tractor and ATV pulls, sponsored by Kuhn, will start at 1 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

A Tractor Drive will start at 4 p.m. People hauling wagons will be available for anyone who wants a 90-minute scenic tour of the countryside. Rides are available for donations that will be given to the American Cancer Society.

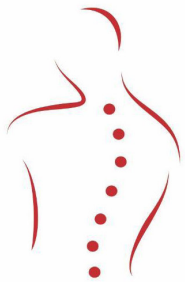

There will be a parade on Sunday starting at noon.

Shuttle rides between the tractor show and the downtown events will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is plenty of parking at the show so plan on parking at the tractor show and riding to the downtown events. There will be plenty of food stands on the grounds.

Thanks to the Covered Bridge Day Sponsors this will be a free event. Anyone who has an antique or garden tractor or other farm related equipment is welcome to display it this weekend. You can bring them in anytime starting Thursday, August 12.

Any questions call Jim Huffman at 608-558-1507.

CASEY'S CORNER

By Casey Jones

Good morning! It's time to sit down with your favorite beverage while reading your favorite newspaper!

What the GuT!

I have many memories of sports while going to high school in Brodhead. A lot of them were while a member of the wrestling team. One of the memories actually had nothing to do with wrestling itself.

I can't remember which year in school, but I do remember an away wrestling tournament somewhere near Milwaukee. It was an early bus ride to an all-day tournament followed by a long bus ride home. We were allowed a $5 budget to get a meal at the end of the day. Five dollars used to get you a pretty good spread in the late 1970s.

We stopped at what I thought was a pretty fancy eating place. As a team, we decided that it would be a better value if we pooled our money and ordered several dishes to share. As the best math guy in the group, I was tasked with making sure we didn't go over budget. It was pretty easy math. Twelve wrestlers at $5 equals $60. As we voted for what we wanted I was keeping tally! As each menu item was added I would announce our outstanding balance. As fate would have it, we ended up ordering exactly $60 off the menu. After all, I was pretty good at math.

It seemed like the food just kept coming and coming. We were having a feast. Plenty of water was drank since we forgot to budget drinks. But a great time was had by all! That is until the bill came.

The coach, Skip DeMaris, presented the bill to me with a little grin on his face. I gladly took the bill since I had collected the pot of money. I had never paid a $60 bill before. I looked at the bill. It was $72! I couldn't have made a math mistake! I read down through the items making sure of my math. It was correct. Then there was one more item at the bottom that we didn't order. I called the waitress over and asked what "GuT" was. We didn't order that!

The waitress kind of giggled, as did Coach DeMaris, then she closed the loop on her "a". She handed me the bill back and said, "Gratuity and Tax!" So, that is what "GuT" is.

It was fortunate for me that we did well enough in the tournament that the coach covered the rest of the bill. Of course, extra wind sprints in the next practice were on the bill also! Have a great week!

Alison Phillips Serves as Relay for Life of Green County's Honorary Survivor

By Marian Viney

This year, the Relay For Life of Green County is teaming up with organizers of Brodhead's Covered Bridge Days on Saturday, August 14, in Brodhead.

Visit our booth from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in downtown Brodhead to purchase luminaria bags, learn about American Cancer Society Resources, make donations, support our bake sale and to be included in a drawing for some great items.

Or visit the American Cancer Society-Wisconsin Facebook page and provide hope to those fighting cancer to 'Celebrate. Remember. Fight Back.'

Alison Phillips of Monroe will serve as Relay For Life of Green County's Honorary Survivor. She grew up in Illinois and lived and worked in downtown Chicago. Alison met her husband Josh, who grew up in Juda, at a Cubs game and after successfully navigating a long-distance relationship, married and moved to Monroe in 2008.

With a nickname of 'Sunshine,' Alison works at The Garden Spot, Inc., south of Monroe as a landscape consultant and during the school year, serves as a substitute teacher for the School District of Monroe.

Her journey with cancer started in 2019.

Alison went in for my first mammogram screening in February. The next day when Dr. Joe Ehle called, "my heart dropped," and she explained that her obstetrician-gynecologist, wanted her to come back to the office as soon as possible for a second screening.

Alison didn't think at age 39 that she would hear the word 'cancer,' even though her mom was diagnosed with cancer when she was 49.

"In addition to the infertility issues that we were dealing with, I would deal with cancer now too," said Alison.

She was advised to have a double mastectomy and that's when, "I realized that I had to be my own best advocate and ask more questions."

After a surgical triple biopsy on February 18, it confirmed that two areas were benign but the third was indeed cancer — Stage IA, hormone positive, HER2-negative, ductal carcinoma, breast cancer.

"He was very caring and all-encompassing," said Alison. "It wasn't just about the cancer."

She also met with Dr. David Melnick, a UW Health surgeon, who discovered that a locator was not placed during the previous surgical biopsy so, "it was like starting over."

In March, Alison had a full panel of genetic testing at the UW Carbone Center and it confirmed that she didn't have the BRCA gene.

On June 4, Alison had a lumpectomy to remove the cancer and a margin of healthy tissue that surrounded it.

"Within a week, I was back to work because being around the plants, the staff who are like family and our customers bring me joy and all were a welcome distraction," said Alison proudly.

She had just over one month before she started her six weeks of daily radiation treatments. Alison traveled to the Leonard C. Ferguson Cancer Center in Freeport for her treatments over her lunch break, going back to work for the afternoons and then home to rest in the evenings.

"As scary as cancer was, I always knew that I would get through the cancer by taking it day by day and staying positive," said Alison. "The one thing that we struggled with was knowing that we would never have our own biological children."

Excitedly, Alison and Josh have started the next chapter and are preparing to welcome a foster child or children into their home and hearts.

"I look back at our journey as a couple and now know this is God's plan for us," said Alison. "We just need to have faith and recognize the God 'winks' or signals, and believe that we are on the right path."

During her cancer journey, Alison added that she relied on friends and family, doctors and staff at the clinics and treatment center, and several motivational quotes.

She shared, "Ultimately, I hope that I can inspire others to make sure they go in for regular screenings, advocate for their own health, and stay positive through it all."

There are so many people who have supported Alison through this journey including:

Husband Josh for his love, support, and picking up a cheeseburger after each of her surgeries; Melissa Briggs, staff and customers at The Garden Spot; support from friends, family, and neighbors; Carrie Williams, Megan Schilt, and volunteers at Justice for a Cure; staff and students with the School District of Monroe; the staff and doctors at Monroe Clinic, UW Health Madison, and the Leonard C. Ferguson Cancer Center.

"There is always a blessing in the storm," said Alison. "My blessings were many. I found my inner strength, re-learned what is important, never take a day for granted, and how truly and completely loved and supported I am by so many in my life."

On August 14, from 6 to 9 p.m., the Relay For Life of Green County will have a walk- and drive-by luminaria event at the Jaycee Park in Brodhead showcasing the luminaria bags that people have purchased in memory or honor of loved ones.

Luminaria bags also can be purchased online and donations can be made to teams, team members, or to the event using the website or forms posted on the website.

For more information about Relay For Life of Green County, please contact Jo Ann Steuri at 608-728-2980 or visit www.RelayForLife.org/Green-CountyWI or on Facebook at Relay For Life of Green County.

Wisconsin War Bride Diary I

By Charles H. Ripp, MD

Chapter 14—Pressure to Move to Denver

Thus far I've done nothing but become prepared for the move by informing people. I need to get my things together, have a garage sale and get my belongings down to a suitcase. I need to sell my car, resolve my lease and say good-bye to everyone. My brother, James, is coming home this weekend. He'll try to talk me out of the move—but to no avail. I'm confident things will resolve and "workout" for everyone and myself. My job, parents, and friends are covered. My landlord shouldn't give me much grief since I've moved into the home just a couple months ago. He'll think I'm weird. I need to keep moving on because the more I reconsider, the longer and more difficult it will be for the Denver move. It will be difficult to say good-bye to the RNs and staff at the hospital. The administration and myself have an adequate relationship. They have discussed a "going away" party for me. I'm neutral regarding this occurring. I'm going with the flow and not listening to snide remarks or comments. Most have been remarks made in jest; but I knew I'd deal with some "small town" stuff if leaving (specifically I'm too good for Monroe, Wisconsin).

Mom invited me over for dinner. Both her and Dad were somnolent. I probably shouldn't have come home for dinner. This is similar to the "Last Supper." I want nothing but the best for everyone. It appears I've hurt many family and friends. I'm not certain where to go with all this sentiment because I'm still working and have three weeks left. Our plan is three weeks from the coming Monday we are all leaving
