Stoughton Trailers Joins Evansville's Parks Expansion

By Bill Lathrop

Stoughton Trailers has joined the list of major donors supporting Evansville's project to revitalize its public parks. The Wahlin Foundation, the charitable arm for the manufacturer of semi-trailers and intermodal transportation equipment, has contributed $100,000 in private funding toward completing Evansville's public parks project.

Wahlin Foundation director Betsy McClimon shared, "The foundation provides charitable grants to improve our local and surrounding communities. This is a great project for us to do." While the donation will support the parks project as a whole, Evansville will name the new baseball diamond after Stoughton Trailers in recognition of the significant bequest.

Revitalizing the parks formally began in 2020 when voters approved a referendum to build a new outdoor pool and add more ball fields. At the time, the local pool was over 60 years old, well past its life expectancy. Repairs were becoming less effective while also increasingly costly. Evansville's aquatics director pointed out how the pool was no longer even level. It was agreed the old pool would be replaced with a splash pad and a new pool built on the city's far west side.

Because of Stoughton Trailers' large facility in town, Evansville's Capital Campaign Team reached out to the Wahlin Foundation last May to gauge their interest. When Ms. McClimon responded favorably, the team submitted a formal grant application. When the foundation's Board of Directors met in September, they were so impressed with the project that they decided to fund the request in full. Reflecting on the project, Ms. McClimon commented, "It's so beautiful—I hope Stoughton can do something like this."

The Wahlin Foundation was chartered in late 1999 with a mission to support the charitable needs within the communities in which it operates—Stoughton, Evansville, and Brodhead. Stoughton Trailers founders Don and Carol Wahlin created the foundation to support the needs of those communities in perpetuity. Some projects assisted by the Wahlins and their foundation include Stoughton's Mandt Community Center, the Stoughton Opera House, and Stoughton Hospital.

With this $100K grant, the foundation has distributed $450K to the communities it supports just this year.

According to campaign chair Matt Poock, fund-raising is now only $85K from the City's updated goal.

In addition to the donation on behalf of Stoughton Trailers, other legacy contributors include Larson Acres Dairy Farm, the Courtier Foundation, and local veterans organizations. A recent grant of $10,000 from the Everything's Possible Foundation is yet another endowment supporting the park project.

If you have questions about making a gift, the campaign team will happily meet with you, share the vision, and answer any questions. Contact Melanie Crans at Evansville City Hall. And remember, the City will recognize household gifts of $1,000 or more with a first-season pass to the new pool for summer 2024!

Orienteering at Magnolia Bluff

By Stephanie Tresemer

On Friday, October 27, seventh-grade students at Brodhead Middle School took part in a unique experience at Magnolia Bluff County Park. This curriculum-based field trip started back in the traditional classroom with instruction on topographic maps and the sport of orienteering. Then, with compasses and maps in hand, 73 students and six staff members made the trek to Magnolia Bluff for a day of outdoor fitness and instruction. When we arrived at the bluff, students were given specific instructions from Madison native Kevin Teschendorf, a nationally-ranked orienteer competitor. Then, the challenge was to navigate a course through the brush, around the woods, and along the bluffs to 18 checkpoints. Students worked in small groups with the aid of their compass and a detailed topographic map. After two "loops" of checkpoints, everyone enjoyed a cookout lunch and decorated pumpkins delivered to residents at the Brodhead Senior Village. A final loop of checkpoints completed our afternoon of instruction, problem-solving, fitness, community service, and team building. It was a beautiful day to be outside, redefining the walls of our classrooms to include teamwork, character education, and fresh air.
