

Dr. Ben Claytor, Director

My name is Ben Claytor and I completed training in neurology and neuromuscular medicine at the University of Michigan. I have been practicing neuromuscular medicine at the Cleveland Clinic since 2019. Aside from diagnosing and caring for patients with neuromuscular diseases, I have an interest in physician education and have been named the resident educator of the year twice since becoming a staff member at the Cleveland Clinic. Outside of medicine I enjoy spending time with my family, reading, growing vegetables and foraging for wild mushrooms.
