10th June 2024 Run 2691

Physio – Lakes Crescent Marrara

The Run:

Anula and Back

The trail, set on white chalk & orange tape. However on Sunday night all the sprinklers washed away the chalk, so Physio had to set it again. He also added a little loop in Anula.

It was noted that the sprinklers only washed away Physio's chalk, but not the chalk from a run set many a moon ago. Towards the end some of the arrows were double ended as he had tried to cross out the old ones.

The drink stop was a very unrefreshing dry throat until you got back to the circle.

The Circle

With a few returners OOps called on the 18 hashers to sort out the radii and form a circle. The Choirmaster Tastee's Toy Boy was back in attendance.

Returning Runners

Idi Amin doing the Casuarina public holiday visit, Backpage was supposed to be in a boat race to Noumea, but was caught by border force and packed off to Christmas Island, Full Bottle Sexon & Animal. All welcomed back to the hit tune from the 70's "Idi Amin, most amazing man whoever been".

Returners

Birthdays

Mrs Quins little boy Charlie was celebrating a birthday, but as he wasn't here we ignored it and moved on.

Jokes

Rocketman was not here this week so Animal describes his latest doctors visit.

The doc said "You are fat and obese and must just stop eating". Animal replied "How dare you, I want a second opinion" The doc replied "Okay, you are ugly as well".

In all his splendour

Animal also added the Irishman's applying for a job. The interviewer said looking at his CV, "You don't do electric, or plumbing, you don't do carpentry and you have never painted anything in your life. What makes you think you can be a handyman?" The Irishman replied "Well I oinly live across the road".

Somebody else told the Bitta joke. The waiter noted a girl sliding under the table at the restaurant, he says to the bloke "Is your wife alright she seems to be sliding under the table?" The bloke replied, that's not my wife, that's her coming through the door."

The Hares - Physio

Animal called it "Obviously a reverse of a previous run. With the shortest false trail ever". Fullbottle scored it 7/10

2700th Run
