

Never Forget

By: Sierra Lewandowski

Wish I'd never known
But you were bound
To tell me

Wish I wasn't there
To watch it
Unfold

But you asked her
She said yes
While I sat there
And watched

She never loved you
And I knew that
But who am I
To judge

At the time
I didn't care
At the time
It meant nothing

But now that
We're together
I can't help but remember

I was there
I saw it all
I heard all the things
You would never Tell your mom

Sierra Lewandowski ©

You bought her a ring
Brought her so many gifts
But she was an exploiter
It was so obvious

Five hundred dollars later
She broke your heart
She told you it's over
Then threw you in
The dark

But you
Gave her everything
Filled her with
Your trust

So now the girl
Who came to love you
Will never get that much

Why'd you have to
Love the girl
Who moved on
In a month

What a grave mistake
What a bad choice
But you would Never say that

Cause you claim
You learned

While I'm sure that you did
In one way or another
But the equation was simple
She was always a cheater

Now all that you think
For all that you know
Every girls a liar
Cause you dated a hoe

And she bears your worst
Cause she didn't come first
Just as the angel assumes
The devil's curse

Why'd you have to date her
Why'd I have to watch
Why'd I have to be there
To listen as you'd talk

Maybe you forgot
I was there all along
But I assuredly did not

No I stayed there
In the depths of the trenches
Of the war I didn't start

It's a fight to love you
And I tell myself I'm strong
But always with a heavy heart