Gems of Iridescia is a strategic board game that immerses players in a vibrant world of discovery and resource management. Featuring a unique blend of worker placement, market manipulation, and tile exploration mechanics, the game offers engaging strategic depth and replayability.

Designed by Roberto Panetta and published by Rock, Stone & Dice Games, Gems of Iridescia invites players to compete as explorers seeking rare gems to restore ancient relics in a whimsically crafted world.

Gems of Iridescia was successfully funded on Kickstarter in Fall 2024. Mass production of the first run has recently completed and shipments to fulfillment partners and backers will begin shortly. Both the Standard and Iridescent Editions of the game will be available in September 2025 in English and French.
