ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

With 15 years as academic faculty and staff, Dr. Dennis has experience with changing course materials and pedagogy for varying experiences and learning, program and curriculum development, course creation and evaluation, faculty evaluation, annual assessments. As creator and coordinator of the criminal studies academic program, Dr. Dennis created courses, selected courses, taught, hired faculty, evaluated faculty, and conducted annual program assessments as part of college accreditation.

As member of the faculty curriculum committee and chair of the faculty curriculum committee, Dr. Dennis participated in curriculum development, curriculum changes, and department and program updates. During these academic experiences, Dr. Dennis implemented demographic and cultural variance in every aspect of education—recruitment and trainings of academic faculty and staff, student recruitment and development, reaching marginalized and underserved students, and course design and materials.
