4.0 Regular Agenda

4.1 Risk & Resilience Assessment and Emergency Response Plan Review As part of America's Water Infrastructure Act of 2018 (AWIA), the Environmental Protection Agency requires that all community water systems conduct a risk and resilience assessment of their system. Systems serving populations ranging from 3,300 to 50,000 people must submit proof of assessment completion in 2021. Risk and resilience assessments evaluate the vulnerabilities, threats, and consequences from potential hazards to the District's critical operations. Assessments may be completed and certified in-house. The assessment must be reviewed every five years and be written in a manner that coordinates the comprehensive water system plan and emergency response plan.

Staff reported that a scope of work outline and cost estimate from BHC Consultants for writing the assessment, reviewing our existing emergency response plan, and submitting written certification is $ 48,538. Staff explained that the regulations allow for self-certification and they planned to begin the process immediately. Commissioner Drotz suggested that the cost of the BHC proposal should not deter staff from using their services as needed. Staff will continue to research the project and report back to the
