Dear DuPage Volunteers & Donors:

"Volunteering is powerful."

Linda, a new volunteer committee member, said recently at a meeting. It stopped me immediately and I took a second to absorb the simple, yet profound, truth of that statement. It resonates for anyone who has volunteered.

Since I heard it, I've reflected on the power of volunteerism and considered it in the context of my own volunteer experience. When I was in high school, I was one of a handful of kids who studied German for four years. Our German teacher, Frau Tymoszenko, must have believed in giving back because she scheduled a few volunteer field trips to the German nursing home for us to sing Christmas carols in German to the residents of the home. All these years later, I haven't forgotten how much joy it brought to the residents to hear us high-schoolers sing "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht," and can today appreciate how those songs probably brought back fond memories of their upbringing in Germany.

In another example, I was in my 30s when I attended the annual picnic for our cultural association with my parents. I was disappointed because it felt like I was the only "young" person there. I went up to some elders who organized the event and asked, "Where are all the young people?" They came right back and challenged me, "We need your help to get them to attend our events." This led to me starting a youth committee and eventually to serving on the board. During that time, we were able to get many younger people involved, including my brother. We also hosted a national conference to celebrate our heritage, where my brother met his now wife; and as life goes, they have two sons. In my case, volunteering resulted in some wonderful outcomes and led to the blessings that nephews can bring. It is also a source of pride to know that many of those (now not as young) people we engaged continue to volunteer with that organization and continue to honor our cultural traditions.

These personal examples are shared to underscore the power of volunteering as a path available to all. Over the years, I have been fortunate to have met countless volunteers throughout DuPage County from all walks of life. This is a composite of their powerful volunteer story.

He is 17. She is 27. They are 47. We are 77.

You are female. He is Asian. I am a stay-at-home parent.

You like the social aspect of volunteering.

You are an electrician. She is a lawyer. We are student volunteers.

I appreciate networking when I volunteer.

They volunteered once through a work event.

Your volunteer skills helped you at work.

She has volunteered every week for the past nine years.

We volunteer at our church, mosque, temple and synagogue.

Volunteering reduces your stress.

They remember what their parents taught them through family volunteer experiences.

You believe in volunteering today because you were a product of a broken family, living in multiple foster homes and managed to grow up to have a great job and a happy family; but you never forgot how many volunteers and kind people you met along the way. To this day, your kids do not know your true story but know their dad believes in giving back.

Volunteering makes you HAPPY.

Volunteering connects you to COMMUNITY.

Volunteering helped you discover your PURPOSE.

Volunteering is POWERFUL.

On behalf of our Board of Directors (of remarkable volunteers), I proudly present the 16th Annual DuPage Giving Guide, the DuPage County Volunteering Resource Guide. The guide lists hundreds of nonprofit organizations and even more are shared at our Volunteer Portal website – givingdupage.org/volunteer – with 700+ volunteer and in-kind donation needs, all searchable by cause, zip code and skills.

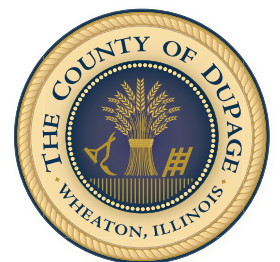

We feel so fortunate to have the Daily Herald as our partner over the past many years and thank them for the great care they demonstrate in producing the Giving Guide each year. We thank the advertisers whose support allows us to offer this tremendous resource as a free publication to the community. We are grateful to work alongside the DuPage nonprofit organizations listed throughout this guide and thank them for what they do to support, protect, empower and enrich lives in DuPage County. Finally, we remain inspired by all local volunteers who donate millions of hours of time and donors who give so generously to positively impact our community.

Our deep gratitude to all and we hope everyone will find the power of volunteering in the pages of this guide.

Sincerely,

Shefali M. Trivedi

Improving the world with Latex Paint

Did you know?

- It's cost effective and more affordable than newly manufactured virgin paint.
- Upcycled paint has a stronger hold on surfaces due to the upcycling process.
- Every single gallon of upcycled paint saves 100 kilowatt hours of energy, which translates into 115 pounds of carbon dioxide which would have otherwise been released into the atmosphere.
- By using upcycled paint, you help keep free flowing liquids out of solid waste landfills.
- Our life-sustaining planet will live longer, and has a greater ability to heal itself without constantly being mined and polluted.
- Each gallon of upcycled paint used saves an estimated 13 gallons of clean water.

Buy Amazing Recycled Paint

Our Premium Paint is just $24.99 per gallon That's 35% less than equivalent paint. The money we collect per container is used to pay our teammates.

Special Needs Employment

Creating Opportunities

Living with a disability is challenging enough, finding a job shouldn't be another challenge. We design stations for each of our teammates to try, finding the right task for each person's ability. Everyday our teammates teach us how they learn and succeed by adapting tasks to their skills. We then coach new tasks and grow vocational abilities. All with a bunch of paint.

Recycle Latex Paint

Your old paint can make a difference.

The Midwest struggles with recycling in general & pays less attention to paint recycling. We want to change that and at the same time, create opportunities for people who have special needs. Your support helps in two great ways.

We Prepare Youth For Life.

GIVETFC.org

Recently, Andrew Wilson, 16, of the Elgin Explorer Post, applied his CPR training. As a result, the High School Sophomore saved the life of a drowning six-year old.

I didn't think I'd ever use my CPR Training. I ran in and saw a bunch of kids screaming, I got down and started CPR. After about 40 compressions, she woke up.

Andrew is a living example of the Boy Scouts of America goal: Prepared, for Life.™

AN INVESTMENT WORTH YOUR WHILE

for a School That's Worth Theirs

"Student progress here is profound. It reveals the tenacity of the students, our clinician's expertise and the spirit of our community's compassion." – CARRIE PROVENZALE, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Here at Turning Pointe Autism Foundation, we seek to provide our students with the most valuable learning environment possible. That is why our CN Day School incorporates best practices into our sensory rooms, skills kitchens, recreational areas, and relaxing classroom settings. But as word spreads, more families are looking to our organization for support.

With your generous donations, we can build our school that inspires independence, socially appropriate behavior and strong communication skills.
