There are no regulations that require businesses to operate outside, or with glass dividers, or restricting the number of patrons below the fire code occupancy, or requiring masks and distancing.

REAL REGULATIONS are created through an administrative law-making procedure by departments and agencies to fulfill and carry out STATUTORY law. When a REGULATION is passed, it's given a code and written in the CA Code of Regulations. The State Department of Health and local health boards publish GUIDELINES, not laws, and the CDC is a private held company with vaccine patents they make money and have no judicial authority in the Commonwealth of US of A.

Only a medical professional can give medical advice, and they may advise that wearing a mask affects the respiratory, neurological, & immune systems.
