- No member can speak until recognized by the chair.
- The main motion is the basis of all parliamentary procedure. All business to be considered by an assembly is introduced by a main motion. This type of motion may only be considered if no other business is pending.
- A motion must be seconded to be considered by the assembly; i.e., at least one other person must agree the motion is worth discussing.
- The maker of a motion has the first right to debate.
- Motions can be amended; i.e., the details of the motion (time, location, etc.) may be changed as long as the substance of the motion remains unchanged.
- Most motions require a simple majority (one more than half) to pass; some may require two-thirds.

Professional Development

Goal setting:

- Goal-setting is the process of deciding where you want to go and how you’re going to get there.
- Short-term goals can usually be accomplished in a year or less; long-term goals are achieved by meeting a series of short-term goals.
- Goals must be specific and realistic.
- Measure your progress along the way.

Resumes:

- A resume is a professional summary of your education and work experience.
- A resume should include your contact information, employment objective, educational experience, work experience, special training, certifications, leadership/extracurricular activities, and honors.
- A resume should not include age, race, gender, political affiliation, or any other personal information not relevant to your job qualifications.

Dressing for success:

- You only have one chance to make a first impression.
- Professional dress includes well-fitting, clean, neat, and conservative clothes appropriate for the job to be done.

Etiquette:

- In an introduction, a man is always introduced to a woman; e.g., “Mr. Smith, I’d like to introduce you to Mrs. Jones” or “Mrs. Jones, Mr. Smith.”
- Handshakes should be firm and friendly, not limp or crushing.
- A man should rise from his seat when meeting other men or women, or when a woman enters the room and approaches the man’s seat.

History of SkillsUSA

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America Inc. (VICA) was founded by students and teachers who were serious about their professions and saw the need for more training in the areas of leadership to complement their chosen vocation. In Nashville, Tenn., 14 states were represented, as VICA chose its name, colors, motto, purposes and goals. In 2004 the Board of Directors changed the name of the organization to SkillsUSA.

Chelle Travis is the National Executive Director of SkillsUSA. He is a native West Virginian and former student member, who studied welding as a student in Mercer County.
