

Look to all that surrounds you,
Listen to the serenity
of your world.
Catch the scent
of joy and sorrow;
Reach out and touch someone who cares to share the bittersweet taste of life.

Photo by R. B. Gygis

Our world keeps whirling - rushing the times by and marking life
with happenings
Some go by with a wink,
Others,
surprise our essence.
compelling us to respond -
with a cloudburst of rain, or the dawnbreak of sun.

Photo by R. B. Gynn

Photo by R. B. Gynn

Photo by R. B. Gynn

Photo by R. D. Gygis

Photo by R. D. Gygis

Remember those lazy days, When you kicked back and felt as carefree as the wind?
Every adventure was special,
while the sparkling minutes turned to pass shining hours of the day.

Of course there were times when you were trapped
with responsibilities.
Yet dreams
of faraway places and faces still trimmed the corners of your mind.

Photo by R. E. Gandy

Photo by M. D. G.

And how about those mischievous twinklings, When to do something sneaky was the biggest thrill of life - Only to find out later it was just a crazy idea that was wonderful while it lasted!

At this time, Warren High pays tribute to our "golden bear" the character the yearbook was named for.
Through the years, he has turned touched all of us to turn us into true
"Warren Bears!"

Photo by K. D. Gynun

All these feelings
had their meanings, Sharing places - times -
people still recalled Through the eyes and shadows of Warren High,
Our world was real
and life was all.

