PORTFOLIO

„Art is like cocaine, highly addictive. Any day without art makes me down“ an artist who for years has focused on creating photography that fraps emotionality. The subjectivity of perception of the palette of shades of black and white rainbow delights and bows to reflection. She loves black and white photography unconditionally, as we can see in her artworks. But what is undeniable, she finds space to play with experimenting with color, which broadens the perspectives through different states of perception.

The artwork reflects the state of mind for a given moment in her life. With the classic old school and simplicity through photography, she wants to reach an audience who will simply like her photography by affecting emotions. Because in the end, one picture replaces a thousand of needless words.
