

FLUID

Flowing like water in and out of an estuary,
She moves like freedom.

Partially enclosed, yet stretching her boundaries,
She embraces and creates the new.

A transitioning being who unites little to produce the large,
She contributes to growth and development.

Stand by to witness or dare to join,
Dip your toes in to connect to the power found within.

Moving with emotion, full of purpose and design,
Behold the embodiment of joy.

Creating forms and depictions never seen before,
Look upon the release of broken chains.

Twists, turns, combinations of rises and falls,
Gaze at the beauty of a soul set free.

Stand by to witness or dare to join,
Stretch your limbs to connect to the power found within.

Submerge yourself in the music
As she instructs your bodies
And taste a new rhythm
That allows you to Emerge anew.