TOXICOLOGICAL RISK ASSESSMENT FOR CAR FRAGRANCE

Intertek Job Number: GZHH00313571

Company: Qingyuan Weicheng Plastic Co., Ltd.
 Building No.2, Yili Industrial City, Longgang Town, Qingyuan City, Guangdong, China

Date: February 26, 2019

Details of Product: Description: A fragrant paste
 Age grading on package, years: Adult
 Physical form: Paste
 Mass or volume: 200 g

Ingredients and %w/w composition are listed in the appendix (subject to valid request).

The above-named product and the ingredients in the product formulation were assessed for the following toxicological potentials:

- acute oral toxicity
- corrosivity and skin and eye irritation
- strong sensitization
- chronic toxicity

as defined according to the following regulation:

- Title 16 of the United States Code of Federal Regulations, Section 1500.3 (16 CFR §1500.3) with consideration of Sections 16 CFR §1500.4, 1500.5, 1500.13, 1500.14 (excluding art materials), and 1500.135.

In completing this toxicological risk assessment, the following information was considered by the board-certified toxicologist:

- the composition of the product;
- the characteristics of the product including nature, physical form and size;
- the safety data identified for each ingredient obtained during literature searches in medical and toxicology databases;
- potential for synergistic or unpredictable adverse effects and;
- the foreseeable conditions of use of the product.

No safety data have been generated by the sponsor with the final product. However, due to the nature of the individual ingredients, it is considered by the safety assessor that the safety of the final product can be adequately assessed by considering the toxicological profiles of the individual ingredients and their levels of use in the final product.

Conclusion: Based on the available data, Car Fragrance is not considered to be an acute oral toxicant, eye irritant, skin irritant, corrosive agent, strong sensitizer, or chronic toxicant when used under normal and reasonably foreseeable conditions of use.
