

BLACK GOLD

A NOVEL

ABOUT THE NOVEL

Before Malcolm X was betrayed by a group of his own peers, and prior to the assassination of Dr. King, there was Laura Kofi—a woman—and an African princess from the Gold Coast who endured their same fate in her efforts to liberate broken, inferior blacks in America.

Laura Kofi's melodic African voice may elude history books, but after her arrival in America in 1926, she rattles communities of impoverished blacks—teaching economic self-sufficiency and encouraging a return to mother Africa. Laura's authentic rise draws thousands of blacks into rallies and sanctuaries for a fresh course of action, and gains the attention of the UNIA, a black nationalist group.

Stubborn and focused on her mission, she ignores warnings of trouble stirring, the serious nature of threats, and even a man so deeply in love with her that she misinterprets his caring nature for a controlling one. But who can save her as she moves further into carrying out her honorable mission?

BOOK DETAILS

Paperback ISBN: 978-0-578-45915-8
Size: 5x8
Page Length: 181
Categories: Historical Fiction
Price: $12.95
Available: February 17, 2019
Source: Amazon.com / BN.com

CONTACT

Email: info@christineracheal.com
Phone: 904.525.6999

CHRISTINE RACHEAL

Is the published author of four books (Trickery, Healed Women Don't Cry, Sleeping Adam, and Black Gold), a writing coach, and a screenwriter from Jacksonville, Florida. She attended Douglas Anderson School of the Arts where she studied Creative Writing, and is a graduate of Florida State University, receiving a Bachelor of Arts in English-Creative Writing and Business Management. Christine is the founding owner of Airris Publishing, a consulting firm that assists new authors in achieving their publishing goals. She is also a co-owner of the media company Opal Ally, and has launched a short film (Fault) and a docu-series (Who Am I?) with the brand. She is the mind behind the She So Gangsta movement that encourages women to wholeheartedly pursue their dreams (www.shesogangsta.com). She resides in Atlanta, Georgia with her husband, Larry, and their two children.

Comment and Connect!
Visit www.christineracheal.com

Find Christine on @crachealwrites