

Hope is the Key

An original song for A Christmas Wish: The Musical

Then and Now: A Journey to Hope from Despair

(Verse 1)

In a room of shadows, despair takes its toll,
Sophia and Tony, lost within their soul.
With no food, no gifts, no friends by their side,
Christmas feels empty, hope hard to find.

(Chorus)

But a flicker of light begins to appear,
A ray of hope dispelling the fear.
Finding a tree for memories untold,
Rekindling the spirit, love takes hold.

(Verse 2)

Tony doubts, saying, "What good will it do?"
But Sophia's determined, her heart shining through.
"We can't let despair consume our days,
We'll find joy for our baby in special ways."

(Chorus)

But a flicker of light begins to appear,
A ray of hope dispelling the fear.
Finding a tree for memories untold,
Rekindling the spirit, love takes hold.

(Verse 3)

So they decorate the tree with ribbon and love,
Savoring the moment, blessings from above.
Sipping a glass of water, the best they can find,
Creating a Christmas that's one of a kind.

(Bridge)

Their living room transforms, warmth fills the air,
Laughter and conversations, a newfound affair.
Love binds them together, even in despair,
As carolers sing outside, snowflakes in the air.

(Verse 4)

Around a table, they share a simple meal,
Toasting to hope, their hearts start to heal.
Miracles unfold when hearts open wide,
The true meaning of Christmas they now confide.

(Chorus)

But a flicker of light begins to appear,
A ray of hope dispelling the fear.
Finding a tree for memories untold,
Rekindling the spirit, love takes hold.

(Verse 5)

They've learned that compassion and love hold the key,
To transform their lives and set their spirits free.
With hope in their hearts, they embrace each new day,
Spreading kindness and joy along the way.

(Outro)

As the curtain falls, hugs and gratitude abound,

From despair to hope, their journey profound.

A Christmas wish granted, their hearts now aglow,

The love of Christ, they've come to know.
