Energetic Patterns

Energetic Patterns explores the mirrored structures of the human neural system, the cosmos, and technological information networks. These abstractions suggest that the architecture of our inner world echoes the architecture of the universe: thoughts, memories, and connections move through the brain much like energy and matter flow through space.

Each piece traces dynamic movement, gold bursts appear as firing nodes of information, while black and white lines ripple like synapses, celestial currents, and channels of data. Using a minimal palette of black, white, and gold, the series distills complexity into a clear visual language of flow, intelligence, and interconnection.

Ultimately, the work invites viewers to consider that human relationships, creativity, and consciousness follow the same universal patterns, each of us as a single neuron in an ecosystem and galaxy, shaping and shaped by a vast, interconnected field of energy.
