The Heather Wilcox Scholarship

The Heather Wilcox Scholarship is awarded annually by the Warren County Conservation District to a deserving student planning to continue her/his education in an agricultural related field or service.

This scholarship is named for Heather Wilcox, who served as the Warren County Conservation District Manager. A Penn State graduate in Animal Science, Mrs. Wilcox devoted her entire life to agricultural and conservation issues. She worked with local farmers to implement best management practices, and to educate countless children, teens and adults about the importance of agriculture and the environment. She did all of this with a sense of humor, strong work ethic, integrity, and respect. Heather was also very active in the Warren County 4-H dairy cow and horse programs for many years. The Conservation District is proud to offer this scholarship in her name, to promote agricultural education in our county's youth.
