Gardening Tips by Susan Bish

Is it me, or has this winter seemed colder and more dismal than the past few years? As gardeners, we look forward to the warm sunny days so we can get out in our yards. Unfortunately we have another month until those days become more frequent. We can, however, begin to plan and organize our outside activities.

Our frost date is April 15th. This means we still have a chance of a frost before April 15. It is recommended to not plant your annual flowers, tomatoes or other warm weather vegetables before the frost date. If you do, remember to cover all these plants if the temperature drops in the 30's.

Many people want to get a head start by planting early. However, it is not just taking a chance of frost, but the temperature of the soil needs to be around 40 degrees for the plants to do well. This rule does NOT apply to most trees, shrubs, perennials, and bulbs. They can be planted at an time.

This is a great time to look through the seed and flower catalogues. There are colorful publications that can be ordered or viewed on-line. Some of my favorites are www.burpee.com, www.johnnyseeds.com, www.SpringHillNursery.com, and www.WhiteFlowerFarm.com. These catalogues have detailed descriptions and color photographs along with instructions as to where to plant in your garden. Even if you do not order from these companies, they are a valuable resource to give you ideas and stir that "spring fever" excitement.

March is a good time to get that head start in the garden. Listed below are some activities you can begin this month.

- Order seeds
- Begin preparing beds for summer annuals
- Prune and spray all shrubs with a fungicide before new growth starts
- Plant dormant ornamental trees and shrubs
- Prune winter-flowering shrubs and vines after bloom
- Walk around your property and clean up trash that has blown in over the winter including broken branches. This is also a good time to pull weeds out of your beds before they take root.

Remember, Spring is only a month away for us in the South. April will be here before you know it!

GARDEN SECRET:

Sow seeds with a shake. Fill an old salt shaker with seeds to sow them easily, evenly, and without a backache. If you don't have a shaker, make one by poking holes in the bottom of a paper cup. This technique works best for small or fine seeds.

If you have any questions regarding any type of gardening, please do not hesitate to contact Sue Bish @ msbish14@gmail.com. She would be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Kelly Plantation has been growing fast and is still undergoing many changes, but our goal is to create and maintain the integrity and value of our neighborhood for the safety, well-being and prosperity of our families and our children to enjoy. Kelly Plantation has a Homeowners Association Board of Directors comprised of residents that was established in 2008.

Please feel free to contact the President or anyone on the Board, if you have questions or need help. The Board President & the Board itself diligently tries to work closely with homeowners, developers & home builders in our community to maintain the attractiveness & integrity of this community. We strongly encourage you to attend the meetings & social functions, as they are planned throughout the year.
