What is My Communication Blueprint?

A 12-week group coaching workshop for professionals who want to command any room while staying authentically themselves. Through weekly live sessions and practical exercises, you'll master influential communication that amplifies your impact without compromising who you are.

Why we created the Communication Blueprint

Through years of coaching and industry experience, we've discovered a consistent challenge: whilst professionals excel in their expertise, they often struggle to communicate their value effectively and navigate complex workplace dynamics authentically. This challenge becomes particularly crucial as they advance in their careers.

We believe everyone deserves access to transformative communication coaching. Whilst traditional 1:1 coaching (typically £350-£500 per session) delivers incredible results, we wanted to create something equally powerful yet more accessible.

Through our group coaching format, you'll not only benefit from professional coaching but also gain invaluable insights from peers facing similar challenges. This collaborative learning environment, combined with our pre-recorded content and live sessions, creates a rich, multi-layered learning experience that often surpasses individual coaching.

What we cover

Self-Awareness (Week 1-3)

Discover your natural communication preferences and authentic voice, learning how to leverage these strengths effectively in life and any professional setting.

Strategic Communication (Week 4-6)

Master the art of adapting your communication style whilst maintaining authenticity, developing the presence and impact needed for senior leadership positions.

Professional Impact (Week 7-9)

Build influential relationships and navigate complex workplace dynamics to create lasting positive change in your organisation and career trajectory.

Your Blueprint (Week 10-12)

At the intersection of these elements, you'll develop a personalised approach to communication that amplifies your influence whilst remaining true to who you are. Through practical application and mastery, these skills become an integral part of your professional toolkit for life.
