GO AHEAD AND MAKE MY DAY

Clint Eastwood doesn't have the rights over those words or motives for saying them. But I'm reminded of those words in a positive sense when I asked the national pastor and his family what they thought about finally getting a roof on their church auditorium after nearly 20 years of patiently waiting on the Lord. Needless to say, they were in much agreement of the idea. It was like hearing them say, "Go ahead make my day." Let's finish this. Let's move forward and build up the house of the Lord. The pastor's family also used it to be a light to the construction workers. They worked alongside the workers every day as well as helped to fix their equipment and most importantly, shared their faith. One of workers gave up his drugs and smoking and turned his life around. The church has a small Sunday school building where they meet, but now they will be able to expand into this larger auditorium. A special thanks to all who gave and prayed to make this possible. Now that this major milestone has been fulfilled our prayers are, as the Lord provides, we would love to see this building completely finished.

Turn over becomes Personal

Starting a new work during Covid wasn't easy but with God all things are possible. What was more difficult was turning it over to the national pastor. We began two and a half years ago and now the pastor with a volunteer staff and about 50 members are managing it on their own through God's grace.

Personally, I was feeling comfortable there and the members wanted us to stay. But after a staff meeting one day I went home and as I lay on my bed relaxing on a Sunday afternoon, I sensed that God was reminding me that He didn't call us to Mexico to just feel comfortable. Now, once again we are starting Bible studies on Sunday mornings with a new group of people. It's not easy and at times somewhat lonely, but this also helps me to remember that we're not alone and God wants me to personally grow as He fulfills HIS promise once again to build HIS church. We would appreciate so much your prayers as we again begin this new adventure.
