New Mountain Outreach

I had the privilege of meeting another

Christian medical group that invited me to the mountains of Coahuila, six of whom rode with me up to the mountains. This was my first with them and although I had the liberty to participate in the soul winning clinic, I volunteered in an area this time that was not sought after by too many volunteers. That area was the continual cleaning and disinfecting of instruments in the dental clinic. Some would ask why did you do that? I'd say, "it just seemed like the right thing to do at the moment."

Although I was called away a couple of times to retrieve more Bibles and tracts that I brought, overall, I was able to stick with it.

I see now why not too many people volunteer for that job. Quite frankly, it's kind of gross. But it was a good experience, and I made some new dental friends, that really appreciated the help. That said, there were a good number saved and Bibles placed in the hands of those who never had one of their own. Please pray for us as I will be joining up with the group in November that I'm normally with and in charge of the soul winning clinic. This time we are going into the mountains of Oaxaca.

New Church Plant Preparations

I found a pastor who wants to start a new church plant on the south side of Monterrey. His name is Noe Villareal. Our launch date is set for September of next year. Meanwhile we hope to begin several Bible study groups in January. We started planning by going up into the mountains at a cabin his father owns and began praying and preparing for these dates. Along with the time we put in throughout the week on our own we meet every Tuesday for three hours.

We ask that you partner with us in prayer as we continue to plan and search out leaders who will join us in organizing this project as well as prepare the hearts of those in this community to receive the gospel.
