Sage Clinical RCM Acquires Quadris Team, Expanding Revenue Cycle and Provider Services Capabilities

TAMPA BAY, Fla., January 26, 2026 – Sage Clinical RCM, a tech-enabled healthcare revenue cycle management company that delivers mid-revenue cycle transformation through strategic leadership, expert staffing, advanced automation, and real-time data insights, today announced the acquisition of Quadris Team, a healthcare solutions provider specializing in comprehensive revenue cycle management, medical billing and coding, credentialing, physician recruiting, and human resources consulting for hospitals, physician groups, and healthcare providers nationwide.

The acquisition represents a strategic and natural next step in Sage Clinical RCM’s growth, further strengthening its ability to deliver integrated, insight-driven solutions to healthcare organizations nationwide.

Quadris Team brings a broad portfolio of services, including accounts receivable management, denials management, authorization and precertification, medical coding and auditing, credentialing, physician recruiting, and human resources consulting. These capabilities complement Sage Clinical RCM’s strengths in technology adoption, workforce augmentation, advisory services, and mid-revenue-cycle optimization.

“Quadris Team shares our commitment to operational excellence, client partnership, and delivering measurable results,” Paula Lawlor, CEO of Sage Clinical RCM, said. “By bringing our organizations together, we are expanding the depth and breadth of services we can offer while maintaining the high-touch, high-quality approach our clients expect.”

The addition of Quadris Team advances Sage Clinical RCM’s mission to deliver smarter, more connected revenue cycle solutions. By integrating specialized operational services with Sage’s technology-enabled advisory model, the organization continues to build a differentiated platform focused on measurable outcomes and strategic value for healthcare providers. "This partnership allows us to enhance the services we provide while preserving the relationships and service standards our clients value," Renae Dotson, Managing Partner of Quadris Team, said. "We're excited to join Sage Clinical RCM and be part of a broader platform that combines talent, technology, and advisory expertise."

Together, Sage Clinical RCM and Quadris Team will offer healthcare organizations greater access to specialized expertise, improved operational visibility, and integrated solutions designed to drive sustainable performance and long-term value across the revenue cycle.
