

WF Update #1 – 9/21/26:

The salt is looking even better than it did at SpeedWeek, thanks to all the wheel packing and the rain it has received since then. We will be running one course for World Finals, and the crew started dragging it today. Things are shaping up nicely, and we're excited about what we're seeing!

We'll be back out tomorrow and will post another update as preparations continue.

See you on the Salt,
