Join us for a Natural building experience with Abudu and the Mama Tree team as we build the walls of an open-air structure to cover our well pad.

There are many ways of building with earth, and in this workshop we will use the tried and true materials of clay, sand, and fiber to build with monolithic cob, adobe brick, and wattle-and-daub techniques. This workshop will be 15% lecture and 85% hands-on experience. Join for both days or one!

Soil Microbe Herding 101

SATURDAY 5/2 @ 9:00 AM

Move beyond thinking of soil as “dirt” and deepen your understanding of it as a living, breathing, biological engine in this intensive one-day workshop with Logan Oliver and guest lecturer, Dr. David White, biologist and local soil expert.

You’ll learn to build the “house” (humus and structure), meet the “tenants” (the microbes), and develop the skills to see, understand, and make healthy soil through hands-on composting and microscopy.

Join us at MAMA TREE for a full day of hands-on learning, practical tools, and knowledge you can apply immediately at home or on the farm.
