June 28th, 2 - 4 PM

with Indra Singh

We are delighted to welcome Indra for a special event exploring the power of water restoration, one of the most urgent and hopeful conversations of our time.

An internationally recognized agroecology educator, water conservation advocate, and longtime student of India's legendary "Waterman," Rajendra Singh, Indra has spent decades working alongside farmers, communities, and water stewards across India. Drawing from these experiences, Indra will share remarkable stories of ecological renewal, community resilience, and human transformation.

In this engaging presentation, Indra will explore how traditional water conservation practices have helped restore rivers, revive ecosystems, and strengthen communities in some of India's driest regions. Through the inspiring story of a women-led movement in the Chambal region, we'll discover how water can become a powerful force for healing landscapes, restoring dignity, and reconnecting us to the sacred web of life.

Join us for an afternoon of learning, inspiration, and possibility as we explore what water restoration can teach us about caring for the Earth and one another. The discussion will end with Q&A and a vision for how we can unite efforts to restore our local watershed.

Weekly Pickups in Ojai on Wednesdays!

Our happy, pasture-raised hens spend their days foraging on fresh pasture and soaking up the sunshine on our organic farm. Using rotational grazing and regenerative farming practices, we move our hens regularly to fresh ground, creating healthier conditions, building soil, supporting biodiversity, and creating a thriving ecosystem.

These eggs are nourishing and delicious, and we want to get them to you! We now deliver weekly via Wednesday afternoon drop-offs in Ojai. Order online by 4 PM Tuesday to pick up your eggs in Ojai on Wednesday.
