

MAMA TREE

Dear friends,

Wishing you sweetness in the upcoming short days and long nights as 2025 comes to an end. You will find our staff crafting, singing, cuddling goats, planting seeds, and preparing for the more than 5 inches of rain forecasted next week!

We are also reflecting on what a spectacular year 2025 has been: our first apprenticeship season was a tremendous success (thanks to finding Rachael!); with our community (you!), we built a wattle-and-daub shed and a cob bench; we held workshops for natural building, sauerkraut, permaculture, compost, goat care, chicken care, pruning, and more!; 16 baby goats were born; we unveiled our already popular fruit leathers; our citrus was distributed to local schools and food banks; many of our team spent a month of service connecting with Abudu's family in Ghana; our goats starred in a Hollywood film; and we had dozens and dozens of eager-to-learn applicants for our 2026 farming apprenticeship. We are ending with elevated spirits and still have a few baby goat petting zoos to look forward to. Plus, read below to find information on a major sale on olive oil available at Ojai's Sunday Farmers Market!

Petting Zoos

Sat 12/20 @ 9AM | Wed 12/24 & 12/31 @ 3PM

Our baby goats are growing up! They are now grazing alongside their mamas, enjoying the lush grass in the sunny pastures. They have put on their fuzzy winter coats and are still as cuddly as ever.

Join us at the farm for 45 minutes of playtime and bring your friends and family who can use a grounding snuggle or just want to share in the joy.

Private petting zoos are also able to be scheduled pending farm staff availability. Gift vouchers are also available if you're looking for an outstanding gift idea. Reach out to Programs@MamaTreeOjai.com if interested 📧❤️
