,Backyard Chicken Care

Saturday, April 5th, 9:00am - 3:15pm

Led by our animal systems expert, Logan, this hands-on workshop will help you start or improve your ability to care for chickens, from essential care techniques to integrated permaculture systems that will make the process easier and more rewarding.

Whether you already have your own flock, or are dreaming of starting your own, this comprehensive workshop will equip you with the practical skills and confidence to care for healthy and happy hens.

Regenerative Farm Tour

Tuesday, April 8th, 3:00pm - 5:45pm

Tour with our land stewardship team to see how we are increasing biodiversity, building soil, supporting a healthier water cycle, and improving climate stability across 60 acres. Hear about the process of transitioning a conventional citrus orchard into young, trial agroforestry plots.

This walking tour will showcase MAMA TREE's orchards, trial plots, earthworks, plant nursery, and regenerative grazing (yes, there will be goat snuggling), as we discuss the principles behind our management approach. Afterward, MAMA TREE products will be available for sampling and purchase.

Introduction to Permaculture

Saturday, April 19th, 9:00am - 4:00pm

Join us for a full-day introduction to permaculture design and agroecology. Gain a basic understanding of permaculture design, along with key principles and terms. See how we apply these principles with various regenerative strategies, including agroforestry, soil building, water management, native species cultivation, biodiversity enhancement, and rotational grazing. Leave with knowledge and hope, knowing humans can integrate into the landscape in ways that benefit the planet, build resilience, and accelerate beneficial ecosystem functions.
