

Mountains of Puebla

March 24, 2022

En la sierra	C
At the end of a road	C
Hay un pueblito	G
Where Three Sisters grow	C

And where the old ways
With their laughter and tears
Are rolling gentle
Down the rio of years

Ninos rientes	F
Nos dan de comer	C
Cada manana	F
No debemos pedir	G

In our young days
When the path was unclear
Seeking refuge from worry
We found charity there

No milk or honey
Just cool mountain air
When I am lonely
My heart wanders there

Chorus

Children laughing
Brought us food every dawn
Treating the stranger
Like one of their own

I have seen the Alhambra	F
And the fountains of Rome	C
But the mountains of Puebla	F
Are calling me home	G

Chorus

Recalling the hospitality of the poor people of Llano Verde, a mountain village in the Mexican state of Puebla, where Andrée worked in the summer of DATE and where she brought me to visit a decade later
