Tiburon, oh Tiburon	Am
Do you never sleep?	Am
Shadow feeding on the dark	C G
In the canyons of the deep	C G Am

In every woman's wailing cry
In every child's fear
Wherever strong men steel themselves
Tiburon you are there

I have seen you in the scorched hills
And in the scarlet plain
Heard the gnashing of your teeth
In the bitter iron rain

And all who follow in your wake
Hunger without end
To shatter the bells of jubilee
And turn against a friend

Tiburon oh Tiburon
For every lass and son
I will ring the bell of warning out
And track you where you run

Tiburon oh Tiburon
I swear by my right hand
I will track you to the deepest lair
And kill you if I can

Tiburon is Spanish for shark.
