

Criminal Court

TRIAL RIGHTS

- You have the right to a speedy and public trial;
- You have the right to be informed of the nature of the charges against you and to have a written copy of the charges;
- You have the right to appear and defend in person or by an attorney at the defendant's expense;
- You have the right not to be twice placed in jeopardy for the same offense by the Tribe;
- You have the right to not be compelled in a criminal action to be a witness against yourself;
- You have the right to confront and cross-examine all witnesses against you;
- You have the right to be subjected before conviction to no more restraint than is necessary to insure your appearance to answer the charge and/or to protect the public;
- You have the right to compel by subpoena the attendance of witnesses in your own behalf;
- You have the right to a trial by the jury of six tribal members, unless expressly waived, except that jury trial is not permitted when only petty offenses are charged; and,
- You have the right to appeal in all cases.
