FAITH

I was asked recently if God tests people? And I replied that we know that Saint James in his letter says that God does not tempt anyone!

Temptations come either from ourselves and the weakness of our nature or from the Evil one.

But we do read in the book of Deuteronomy today that God can test us. Just as he tested the people of Israel to see if they would obey the Commandments or not.

Sometimes we do wonder what is the depth of our Faith and to what degree do we cling to our Faith? When things are going relatively well we don't have major challenges in our life or major reasons to question that there is a good God beyond this world.... But what about the rough times?

What about those times where it seems like our world is caving in on us? Where things are not going as planned and where there are major disruptions in our life? A strong Faith will believe in God in spite of these major challenges. Perhaps we have to consider how much Faith are we putting into the world and how the world is going now as opposed to the supreme God over it all?

Perhaps it's important for us to understand that everything in this world comes from God so that even the most basic things depend upon God's good nature.

There are times when our Faith can be tested, but let us hope that we can dig deep and find a place in our heart to believe. Even if it's a small light that leads the way and a small hope that we can always cling to!

May God bless you all !

Fr Rob

MAGNIFICA HUMANITAS

Latin for "Magnificent Humanity" is the first encyclical written by Pope Leo and was formally released by the Holy See on May 25, 2026. The primary purpose of this landmark, social encyclical is to provide a comprehensive moral and ethical blueprint for safeguarding human dignity in the age of artificial intelligence (AI). Pope Leo XIV signed the document on May 15, 2026, intentionally aligning it with the 135th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's groundbreaking 1891 encyclical Rerum novarum, which addressed the challenges of the Industrial Revolution.

The text is divided into five chapters and uses biblical metaphors – such as the choice between constructing the prideful Tower of Babel or rebuilding the community-centered walls of Jerusalem– to analyze the integration of technology into modern life.

“Do not forget the Lord your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt”
