MESSAGE

ONE ANOTHER

In today's Gospel, we see that Jesus has pity on the multitude. He says that they are like a flock without a shepherd. He then turns to his disciples and says that the 'harvest is great, but the laborers are few!' So he decides to send out his disciples to shepherd his flock. He tells them they should announce that the Kingdom of Heaven is near and that they should go and cast out demons, heal the sick and help all who are in need.

In our own lives, how are we called, concretely speaking, to be like these disciples who are sent out as laborers to the harvest? How do we announce the coming of the Kingdom of Heaven?

Every little bit of good we do announces in some way that coming of the Kingdom. Whatever we can do to help one another - whatever we can do to make others lives easier - helps to usher in the Kingdom of Heaven. We can care for the sick, but we can also heal souls. We can comfort one another, encourage one another, and even inspire one another! We may not do glorious miracles, but we do small miracles in helping one another with a sincere heart and a true intention.

Jesus didn't choose the best or the greatest to be his disciples. He chose those he found along the path, those who were ready, willing and able. Let us open our hearts and minds to be available for where Jesus leads us and be willing to do all that he asks of us to do for one another.

May God bless you all !

Fr Rob

A NEW BISHOP

As some of you may know, every bishop in the world has to submit to Rome their letter of resignation at the age of 75. Rome always accepts this letter and in recent years the turnover has been quite quick.

Our Bishop Vasa submitted his letter on his 75th birthday this last May 7th but there has been no word about a new bishop! Most likely due to the bankruptcy procedures his office of bishop has been extended since most likely the bankruptcy will be finalized probably by this Fall...

Bishop Vasa has been a faithful servant to the church since 1976 as a priest and since 1999 as a bishop (first of Baker, Oregon then of Santa Rosa) some 27 years! I am sure he would deeply appreciate your prayers. Please pray as well for our future new bishop who has to take on this tremendous responsibility. Most priests shy away from this office and are reluctant to accept it since it is such a demanding job!

"The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few!"
