

Merry Christmas

Christmas 2011

To: Andrea

From: Payton

To The Love of my Life Andrea,

It all started on Friday, January 2, 2004 when I laid eyes on you for the very first time in Buffalo Gap at the rehearsal dinner celebrating Matthew and Sandy. I remember thinking to myself, "I need to figure out a way to talk to that girl!"

God stirred the courage inside of me to ask you to dance to Amarillo by Morning, one of my favorite two-stepping songs.

All I knew at that point is that I found you attractive. It did not take me long to realize there was so much more to you than your beauty. "They" say love grows stronger with time and I'm here to tell you, "THEY ARE RIGHT!"

You know me – I like to save everything. It's a great tool to remind us of our past. I hope some of this email correspondence from our first year means as much to you as it does to me. I cannot wait to read through it with you and remember those times like it was yesterday. It will also be valuable for Merritt, Channing and Stella to understand how Mommy and Daddy fell in love.

I am still learning how to be a better husband and know I can always improve. Thank you for your patience! Life with you gets better every day as we remember to always make decisions based on the Five F's.

God is good! May He continue to bless our lives together....we're only getting started honey!

*I love you so much,
Payton*

Payton,

Hope your flight back to New York was fabulous assuming that you had the most comfortable first class seat which you well deserved after a long weekend. I wanted to sincerely tell you that I didn't mean to leave without saying goodbye. I have no excuse, I know after talking to you for a short while that you are a good hearted special person and I don't need anyone to back that up. You carry a little spirit on your shoulder that shows you're a passionate, well rounded gentleman (though I think a graduate from a&m gives that away) I thought the speech that you gave was really awesome because what I had expected from things that I gathered from hearing about you was something really formal and maybe written by your secretary. Hah- but I was very impressed by the one you spent some time on- very original and straight from the heart. I know that really touched Sandy and Matthew. I thought the wedding was a hit. I wish we would have had more time to converse but, I wanted to do everything I could as a bridesmaid to help the weekend be all about them. We talked about you at lunch today and they had all good things to say. I hope your week is positive and upbeat and I am sure that it will be. I wanted to tell you that it really was a pleasure meeting you and hope that we will meet again.

Sincerely,
Andrea

Hope your week is going okay...I have literally had about 11 hours of sleep total since I talked to you on Sunday night..so that's less than 3 hours/night. Work is unbelievably busy and I have been trying to help Matthew and Sandy out on purchasing a house from a distressed seller. I'm headed down to Florida today and flying back up here next Wednesday. Just wanted to say hello....I can tell from your previous email you're the kind of person I want to talk to in my limited time...very upbeat and positive. That's the story of my life. Take care and hope to speak to you soon.

Hey, hope your week is wonderful in Florida because it sounds like you are tired. I bet the weather is nice there. Just look at it this way, you are a successful, single man and enjoy your fast paced lifestyle while you can. I talked with Sandy this morning and she is anxious about getting that house, really hope it all works out. I am headed out of town for the weekend also. I am going to relax at my grandparents and we are having a baby shower for my aunt, she is in from Bermuda. I hope you get some good sleep and you are revived by the time you arrive home from Florida. Good to hear from you.

Don't get me wrong...I'm not complaining about not getting sleep. God has blessed me in more ways than I ever imagined and regardless of how tired I am, I fully appreciate that I am a very lucky person.

I am pretty sure Matthew and Sandy will end up there....it's just a matter of when and what is supposed to be will be. I am just trying to strategize how they can get it purchased for $30,000 less than they originally anticipated.

yes payton, I agree that you are a very lucky and blessed person. I'm sure that it is all a result of your hard work! When you have your life right with God he blesses you in ways you didn't know were possible. It sounds like you are getting what you deserve...and that is very respectful...even if you are exhausted. I'm sure that things will work out with the whole house thing for Matthew and Sandy.. I can't wait to help decorate and before you know it you will be blessed with nieces and nephews!! Enjoy Florida!

How old are you...because you seem to be much, much more mature and be at peace with everything than many people in their 30s and 40s (and older). You really do not understand how picky I am when it comes to girls...I have always wanted someone attractive (and still do), but that's definitely not on the top of the list. I have not even had the pleasure to know you for a full week, but there are some people that really are "different" in such a positive way and I definitely put you in that category. And I could count the number of people that I place in that category on one hand.

I keep a lot of quotes on my mind and I have a definite feeling you fit the following description...please let me know if I am coming on too strong. Because that's not my intention at all...I don't want to blow any potential chance with you.

"Sometimes people come into your life and you know right away that they were meant to be there, to serve some sort of purpose, teach you a lesson, or to help you figure out who you are or who you want to become. You never know who these people may be (possibly your roommate, neighbor, co-worker, long lost friend, lover or even a complete stranger), but when you lock eyes with them, you know at that very moment they will affect your life in some profound way."

Really Payton... you have those kinds of people too... Of course you are not coming on too strong...you seem like a REAL person. I am at peace with myself and my heart is in the right place. It took a long time to get there but like you were saying the people that have gone in and out of life have helped mold the person that I have become. I am very lucky to have been blessed with an incredible family. You seem very at peace too, and I know your hectic schedule it must be difficult to keep your head on straight. You should be proud.

I think it's really something that you lead this hard working all business life but, I can tell that when it's time to have fun your ready. What I mean is sounds like just from talking to you, there is a serious business man Payton, and a fun-lets party Payton. That's a quality in my eyes.

I thoroughly enjoyed our conversation and think that getting to know you will be very interesting. I was thinking about the three words that come to mind when thinking about you. I was put on the spot and came up with what I think three cheesy answers. So in recalling our conversation I think that what stuck out in my mind the most is that you are a very compassionate person. I think this because the thing that sticks out the most is how you were talking about your future children. Payton that really touched me and I think that really says something extraordinary about you. I hear guys talking smack all the time about having kids and stereotypically I had guys labeled as "kid haters." I don't have the other two thought up yet, but progressively as we know each other more in detail I have no doubt I will come up with many more words to describe you.

I can honestly say that I have never met someone that I thought I clicked with more than you (and sooner). You have such an appreciation for life and that is very rare to find in someone twice your age. I had no idea when I was talking with you at Matthew and Sandy's wedding that you were as awesome as you are.

I am flying back up to NYC tonight...I was reading in the paper this morning that the temperature is going to be the coldest it has been in over two decades. A lot different than Miami, but it could be worse....at least I work inside an office building.

Have a great day.

I am thrilled about the invite to New York and think that our weekend together will be spectacular. About the flight schedule... Friday the 13th (that's scary) sometime in the morning would be great (8 or 9). By the time I get there and drop off my luggage I will be ready to go play. I know you will still be at work and that is fine...I can explore with no problem. On Sunday the 15th late afternoon sounds good... (7 or 8). Now remember you have the final say so on all of this ... so if something doesn't fly then you change it. Hope your weekend is relaxing, talk to you soon.

One thing I love about you is how you always include something in the subject line of an email. It's always hard for me to think of something creative to say. I know that's a small thing, but it is one of many.

I don't want to show all my cards, but I will tell you my feelings towards you are very unique. I have definitely thought I liked other girls before, although I've never been in a long term relationship (Matthew and I are similar in that respect). I guess I don't give things much time if I really don't think there is long term potential. You are so different than other people and I mean that in the most positive way.

My brain is always busy thinking about work, etc., but you are definitely occupying a larger portion in my little head as each day passes. Hope this doesn't push you away...I'm just open book.

Communication is the key to every successful relationship whatever it may end up being. Past relationships are irrelevant, when you meet someone that is special to you things will all start falling into place. Class today was short and sweet but I am facing a very challenging semester and looking very forward to it. Hope work is going smooth for you, and I get more excited everyday about coming to see you.

okay payton I at dinner last night my mom and her friends were telling me what is really worth seeing when I come visit you. I would like to see ground zero. Have you been? I would also like to go to fifth Avenue and down the way are some pretty cathedrals. Then they said SOHO was fun if time doesn't run out. My aunt said the Museum of Modern Art is cool but that would be the least fun, plus it's in Queens. So here are a few ideas we can throw around. Hope you and your father are having a blast.

I have yet to have chance to get my pictures developed because I still have pictures left, but I will take them asap I will have them to you by Saturday (if not sooner) - you have my word. My A&P went awesome I got a 95!! I have a Micro test on Thurs. that I know I won't be too happy about. Just because I have tests and stuff going on, once again you can call or email anytime because I am NEVER too busy. I figured out that I can email you on my cell phone but it will just come up my number as the email-not Andreadee82. I know you said something about Coleman? So I don't need an official plan... just a heads up, I am game for whatever. I picked up The Five Love Languages last night and started reading about "our" love languages and I think that I am not so much quality time but a mixture of quality time and quality conversation. While I was reading I noticed that it talked about knowing WHY our love language is what it is. Do you know why WORDS OF AFFIRMATION are so important to you?

I'll top you and say that last night was one of the best conversations I have ever had with anyone....I promise I mean that.

The August dates might work better because I want to try my best to really relax and take some time off. Is there a chance that wherever you went would start before August 31? If so, do you know when? It's definitely not critical that you get me the dates anytime soon (I will research this for awhile before making a decision (with your input) on where to go and what to do). Hopefully we can have some plans set by sometime in April though....with my busy work schedule if I don't have something set in stone early, it's too easy for me to make excuses to work instead of taking some time off. I am really, really looking forward to spending some significant quality time and relaxing with you.

Payton,
Thanks for your e-mail. I really appreciate what you said. I also want you to know that I am very much like you in that I am very busy, and I don't have a lot of free time, so I've found that there are only a handful of people that I really enjoy hanging out with during that free time. That is not meant to sound stuck up, like hanging out with certain people is a waste of my time, it's just that when you don't have a lot of time, you really pick and choose the friends that you want to spend that time with. Well you are one of the people that I enjoy hanging out with, that is, whenever the two of us are in the same city at the same time, which doesn't seem to happen much.=)

My approach to my guy/girl relationships here have been different than ever before. Like I said, I have a hard time meeting and maintaining guy friends, so usually, I meet a guy, realize he's not anything I am interested in, and really lose interest in seeing him again. It's a waste of time. But, like I said, I have two guy relationships that I am holding on to, and you're one of them. I think we have a great time together, and definitely alike in our beliefs and thoughts about things. I told you before, a lot of my best NY memories are things we've done together. So, you're not getting rid of me, sorry.=) I am honestly, very glad that we can be friends, that we can talk openly and honestly, it's so refreshing! Have fun on all of your trips, it sounds like you'll be mixing in some business with pleasure, which you very much deserve. So have fun on the beach with your iPod, and at home with your sweetheart.=) Lets definitely get together when life slows down a bit for you. You're a great guy Payton Mayes,
Brita

I apologize for snapping at you about the whole nursing thing last night.... I know that you are interested in helping and educating yourself about it and I promise that I am interested in sharing. I have checked school dates and as much as the 23-30 sounds good I think it is not going to work. Most schools start the 31, so I think that might be pushing it a little too much. If I go to summer school I will be done AUGUST 14, so anywhere between aug.14-aug.28/29? Let me know what you think. Hope your day is great.

Subject: here are you words, Dear

OK Payton, my bath was great and all I needed was some time to think about what words come to mind when I think about you. Compassion still stands and that is the quality that I think sets you apart from "normal" people. You are one of a kind. The next quality that stands out about you is HONESTY, if any word describes you best this is it. I think I am a very honest person, but I don't like to hurt people's feelings I tend to want to focus on the good things, but I think you are a good judge of character (I lack in that area) and when someone is dishonest I think you probably call it right then. The last quality about you is Open-minded. This is absolutely my favorite thing about you. You have everything that you could ever want and need but the fact that you can still see things in the views of other people. What I am trying to say a lot of times when people that have been very fortunate in their lives have everything they cannot understand why someone else doesn't have everything and some of those people are quick to put the less fortunate down. You are not like that, I truly think that you appreciate what you have worked your A** off for and you are thankful. You have every right to be. There are many other things that describe you but I think that is the basis of how I perceive your inner self. I am so fortunate to know you. You meet the standards that I have always looked for in a lifelong partner.

Yes, I will still have my aol account and will check it occasionally but I get lots of emails from the school and the convenience of checking it all at once would be nice.

My evening with Bob was nice. We went and ate sushi at this place I have been before. He met a girl at work and asked me for advice all night. Then we went and had ice cream at TCBY. I got home about 9:30, crashed out about 10. I never had as much fun with anybody as I do you. Let's just say it was no date with Payton!!

Payton,

Hey sweetheart! How is Germany? Is it beautiful?? I got your message this morning as I was getting out of bed. It made my day!! I was thinking about you a lot last night as I was working out. I think so highly of you Payton. I miss you and hope that you don't wear yourself out. In between working hard, get some rest. We'll talk to you soon.

I Love You,
Andrea

Hi Sweetheart,
Hopefully by the time you are reading this you are so very well rested ....and have had a hearty breakfast!!
It's now just been a couple of hours since we have talked and ...I miss you! Don't let anyone talk you into going to Germany, please. I want you in the states.
I hope I didn't hurt your feelings last night, though I still don't think that 70's is bad, you are right it is a little under my average. I will just start saying 100% from now on because that's how Andrea feels about Payton. You are great!! I need to start being more positive.....because I have so much to be happy about. When are you coming to Texas next? November?? I wish I knew because it gives me something to look forward to. Well baby, hope you have a lovely day and think in the 90's if not 100's!!

Good Morning Payton!

I am thinking about you and wanted to say hello. I hope that you have managed to get even a little rest. I am trying not to worry about you because I know that you are doing something you love to do. I support that.

Hope you have a good day, I miss you, and love you!

Hey good looking. I am still organizing my power point. It is going to be the pros and cons of our relationship... haha... it will take me awhile to get creative on the cons..Do you have any ideas? Or any specifics I should cover that you would like to hear my opinion on?

Did Pati and Gary have fun in NY? Did Slim show them around the whole time or did they do exploring on their own?

I was talking to Amy's roommate Amanda (because she was signed on to david's screen name) and she said that Amy was out with some guy tonight name Jim. She met him through Debbie. Amanda said that Amy is really interested in him... I am glad that she is going out with someone else.

Well Payton, hope that your German girls are treating you well. Your Texas girl misses you.
PRETTY PLEASE TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF.

How does Andrea feel about Payton?

- I feel as if I have moved right along through the “IN LOVE” phase and now perceive you with a greater respect. That respect is for you to be happy in whatever it is that life holds in store for you. (Though I’m still smitten with you)
- I like that you are spiritual and that you seem to have a strong relationship with God (BIG plus)
- Your manners melt me, I love that you are so friendly to everybody and really easy to talk to (very much a turn on)
- The way that your priorities are in line ( you make life look so easy and you approach it with the best attitude possible)
- The way that you are so honest, and you will speak it in any given situation
- I am pretty sure you have a big heart and I’m pretty sure that when certain circumstances arise that you use it (like sending the challenged kids to see Radio)
- When I have a bad day, I look forward to hearing what positive things you have to bless me with
- I love the excitement that I feel when I know you are coming in town the next day ( nothing compares)
- I know that I am very lucky to have a boyfriend that holds all these qualities (never met one before)

The Pros of the relationship

- The time we spend together is cherished because our time together is scarce
- I trust you with my heart and trust that you will not treat it unfairly
- We enjoy each others company whether it be on the phone or in person ( I love your emails too)
- That we can talk to each other about anything, an open line of communication (anyway I feel like I can)
- I think that we view many things in the same way , and we don't have totally different backgrounds
- Neither of us are fighters, for the most part we can talk problems out in calmly fashion ( I like that you don't yell)
- Both of us are open minded and for the most part carry a positive karma on our shoulders (saying neither of us is a pessimist)
- Last but not least I think we both look forward to seeing how this relationship will grow!!

The cons of the relationship

- Distance for sure is the biggest burden
- Work and school are our lives, therefore not much time is set aside for just us
- Not getting to see the rustle of your everyday life (the mystery of your schedule)
- Some conflict that has been caused between myself and members of your family
- The way that you treated me this past weekend

Hi Sweetheart, Hope you are having a great day. I got to feeling bad after we got off the phone last night about you being sick on Tuesday, and I didn't even call and check on you. I wish that you would let me know those kinds of things. I would have had my sister bring you by some soup or something, or at least check on you. I am glad you feel better now though. When are you and Slim flying in for the game? talk to you later.
