

Privacy Policy for Global Security & Data, LLC

GLOBAL
Security & Data

Privacy Policy Summary

The Global Security & Data privacy policy outlines the different categories of information collected and stored as required by the California Online Privacy Protection Act (2014). This policy details the methods of collection, what information is collected, how any information is collected, and what any collected information is used for. A formal notice is also outlined declaring the collection of information, as well as the consumer's rights to access or delete any collected information.

Definition of terms

For the use of this privacy policy alone, the following terms are accompanied by their definitions to be used at any point in this privacy policy.

- Company – This refers directly to and about Global Security & Data, LLC, or any reference to the word company from, not limited to but including “We”, “Us”, “Our”, and “This”.
- Global Security & Data Website – specifically <http://www.globalsecurity-data.com> and all web pages accessible under that domain.
- User – The person that is accessing any services or facilities on the Global Security & Data website.
- Personal Data – Any information that is collected by the Global Security & Data website or its host that is correlated with a specific user.
- Usage Data – Any information that is collected by the Global Security & Data website or its host that is not personal data, rather, information about any website interactions.
- Host – The website hosting platform company GoDaddy that is used to host and make accessible on the internet the Global Security & Data website. You can read about their legal agreements and policies on their website here.

1. Information We Collect

This section describes what specific personal and usage data could be collected from a user of the Global Security & Data website. Only information relevant and useful to the Global Security & Data website would be collected to ensure the best possible experience from the user. Possible categories of data that the Global Security & Data website could collect include the following:

Personal Data

- Name
- Location
- Email address
- Phone number
- IP address
- Anything uploaded to the Global Security & Data website

Usage Data

- Duration
- Time
- Location

Cookies that are collected on the Global Security & Data website are solely used for the purposes of data collection described in the list above. Although Global Security & Data does not use any cookies to collect data, our host does for the purpose of statistical analysis only.

Data collected by the Global Security & Data website primarily is conducted by means of either first, website contact forms, such as but not limited to the contact us webpage and the career webpage on our website. Second, other data collected would be from your web browser, which is sometimes strictly necessary for connection to the webpage, but otherwise intended for other use detailed in the section below.

2. How we use that info

Contact

Data collected on either the Career or Contact Us pages is meant strictly for the use of getting in touch with Global Security & Data employees. The contact information, your name, email, phone number, message and any uploaded files are processed through our website and through our hosts website to create an email message to Global Security & Data employees. The information is no longer stored on our website, but our host reserves the right to collect this information for uses specified in their privacy policy linked above (see definition of terms).

Statistical Analysis

Usage data and personal data could be collected by our host for the sole purpose of tracking statistical data about the users that visit the website, what they access and perform on our website, and where and how they perform these actions.

Advertisement

Global Security & Data will never knowingly use, sell, borrow, or give away any data whether personal or usage, to an advertisement company, or any company associated with one in the means of sharing personal data. Any data collected on our website is strictly used for the featured and statistical uses already detailed in the paragraphs above.

All other data management details are included in the GoDaddy privacy policy, terms of use, and are available for reference at the link listed here.

3. California Notice of Collection

California residents are entitled to the knowledge of data collection, as well as the use of collected data, under the California Privacy Act of 2008 (CCPA) and the California Online Privacy Protection Act of 2014 (CalOPPA). This notice of collection acts as a formal declaration of data collection and use under the CCPA & CalOPPA and outlines the purposes for which data collected from a consumer from the last 12 months can be used.

4. California Consumer Rights

California residents are entitled to specific privacy rights, as outlined in California Law, specifically the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2008 (CCPA) and the California Online Privacy Protection Act of 2014 (CalOPPA). This notice serves as a summary of the rights afforded to the consumer under the CCPA & CalOPPA and governs our aforementioned privacy principles, privacy controls, and data collection/usage methods.

Right to Know

- Consumers have the right to know what information we collect about them. Within 45 days, this information should be made available free of charge (extensions permissible under specific circumstances).
- In addition to what information is collected, the consumer has the right to know who we share consumer data with (other business, third party applications, etc.).
- To request your information with any associated details, contact us via the support form on the “Contact Us” webpage listed here or contact our host via their privacy support page listed here.

Right to Refuse & Request Deletion

- Each user has the right to request a deletion of information that has previously been collected from the consumer.
- Once a request is verified, we will delete consumer information.
- Requests can be denied or postponed under the exception that our host’s terms of service were broken, listed here.
- To request a deletion of your information with any associated details, contact us via the support link provided on the “Contact Us” webpage listed here or contact our host via their privacy support page listed here.

Right to Non-Discrimination

- We do not have the right to alter any of the previously mentioned policies and rights on the grounds of race, gender, ethnicity, or any other forms of self-identification/background.
- Each and every user is permitted and encouraged to execute his/her rights.