

My Support Network

In each layer of the circle, write the names of the people in your life who you trust to support you when you need it. The circle closest to you might be those you trust the most, such as parents or siblings, and the next one might be close friends or relatives.