HOW TO PLAY

Players choose an amount of tokens to wager and swipe left or right.

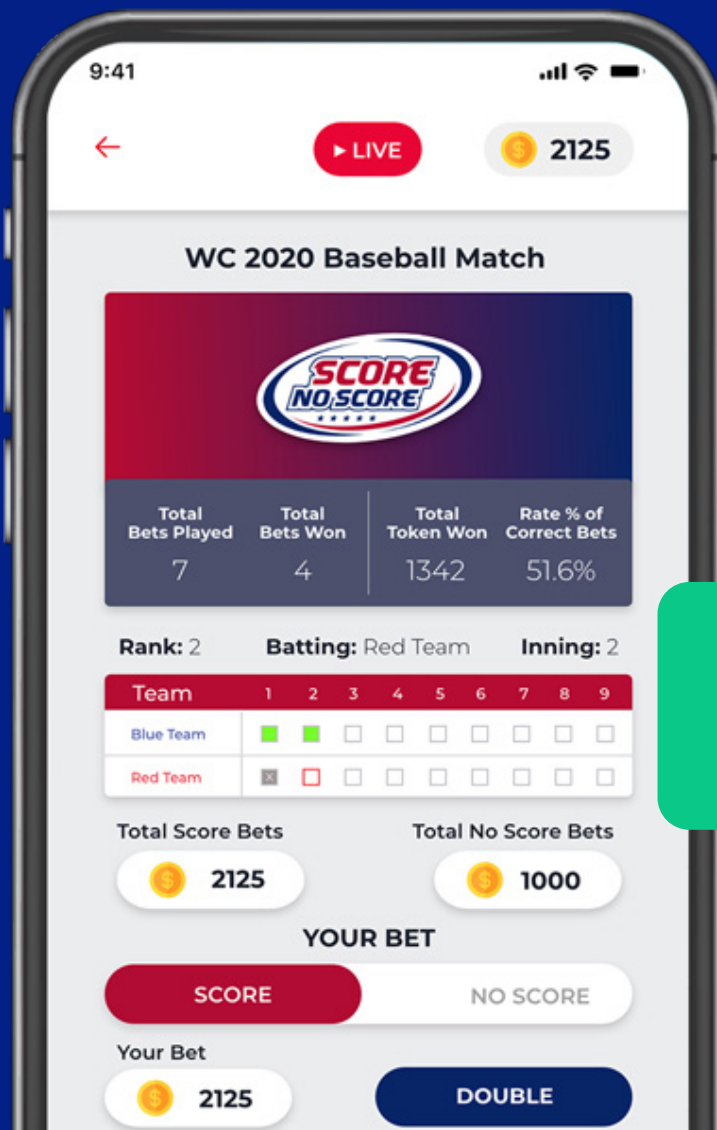

Do you think the team will score in next inning, drive or within a specified period of time?

Totals will accumulate for both outcomes and will show on the screen.

This is how the odds are determined by players not Vegas It is a bit like poker.

Players win tokens based on the proportion they bet. If you contribute more to your side and win – you will get more tokens than someone on your side who put in less.

SECOND BET:

Players will be able to make two bets on each go around.

Bet one:

Will a team score or not?

Bet two:

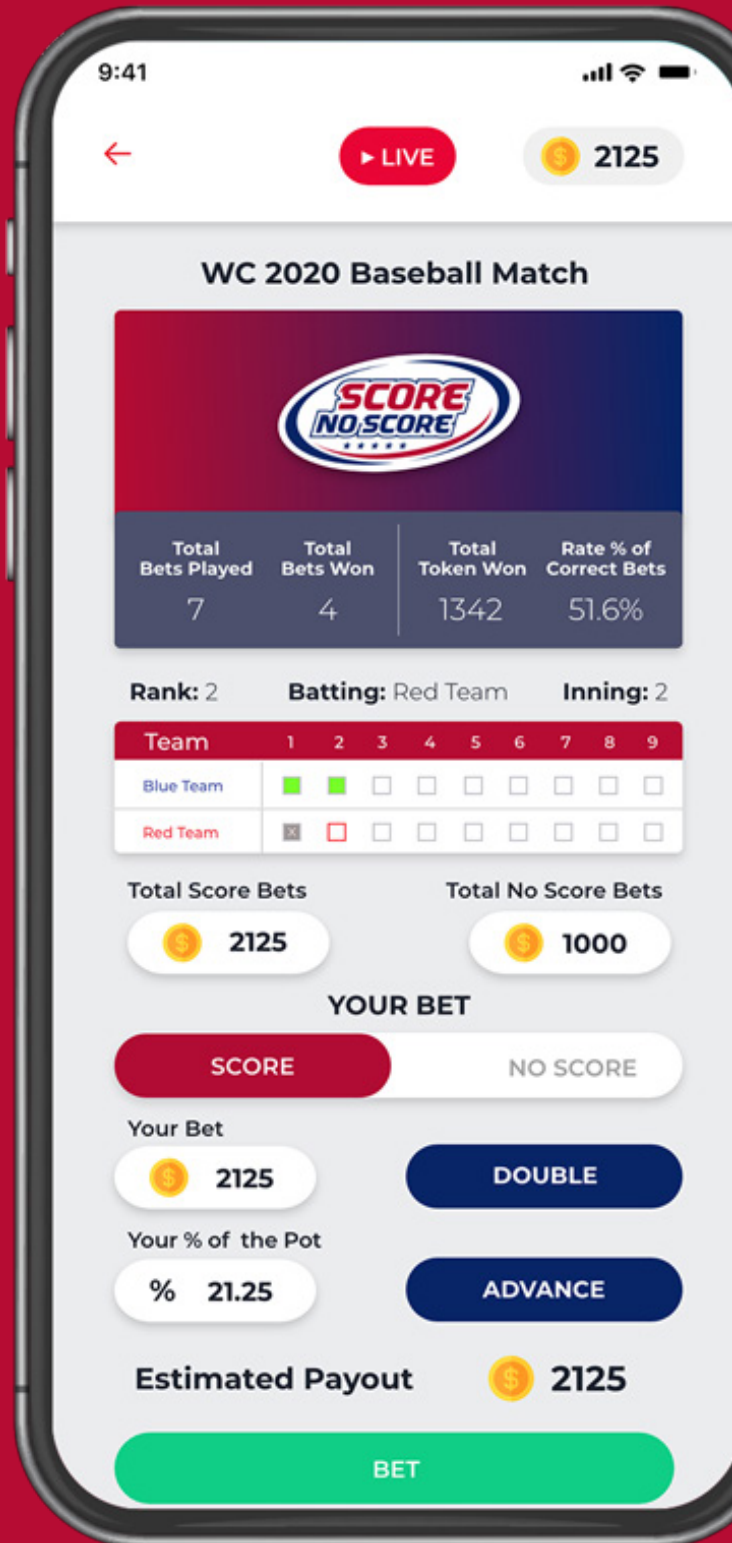

players then have the option but not the obligation, to double the initial bet.

The timing of the second bet will vary based on the sport being played.

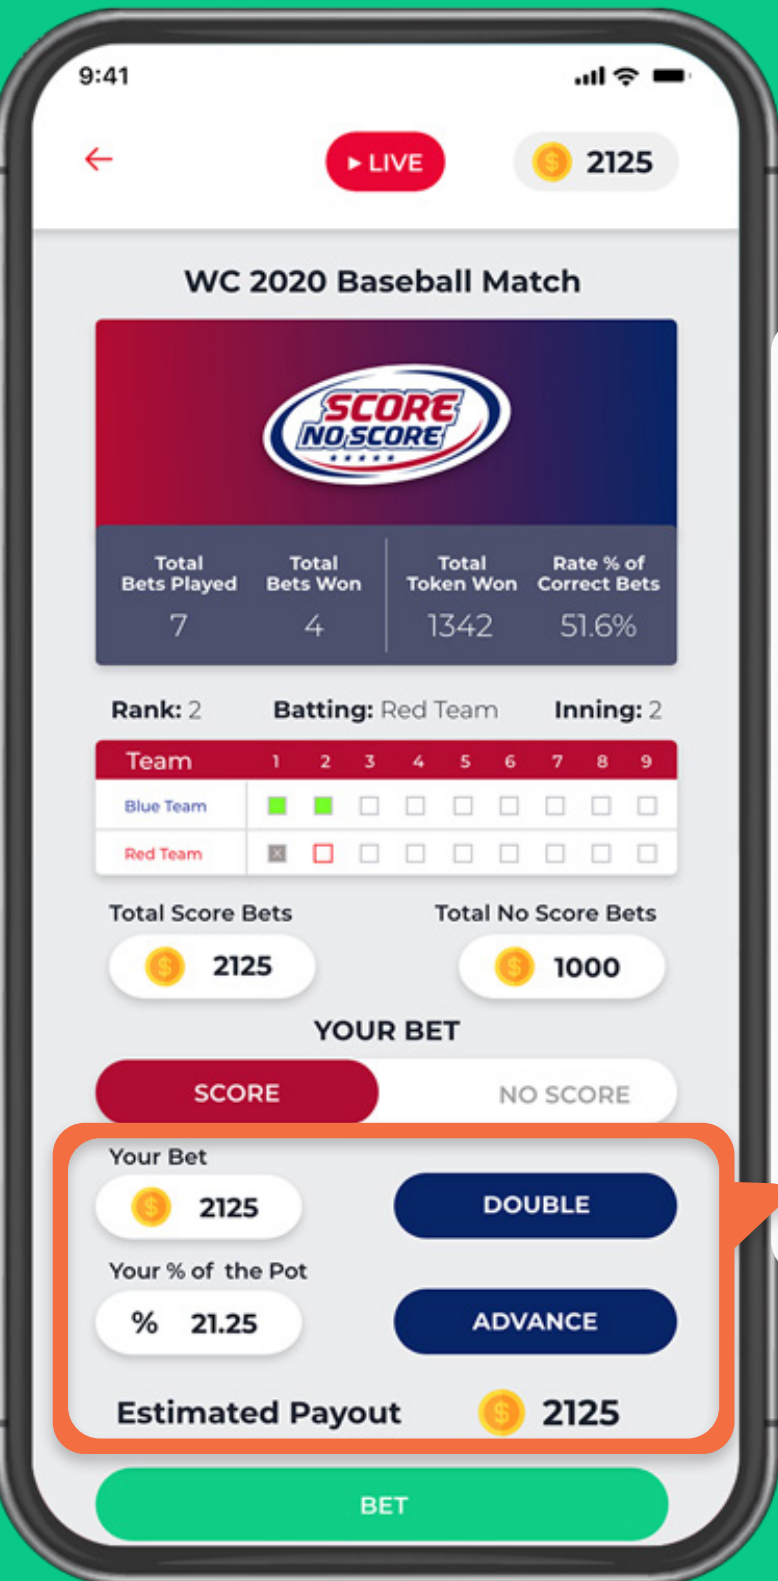

WHEN BETS ARE ALLOWED AND PLAYER RANKINGS:

The app shows when bets are allowed: "closed in red" "open in green".

Results are kept in real time and you can see how others are playing in a particular situation. All sports will require an initial bet before the game goes too long (in between innings, drives, start of a period, etc.).

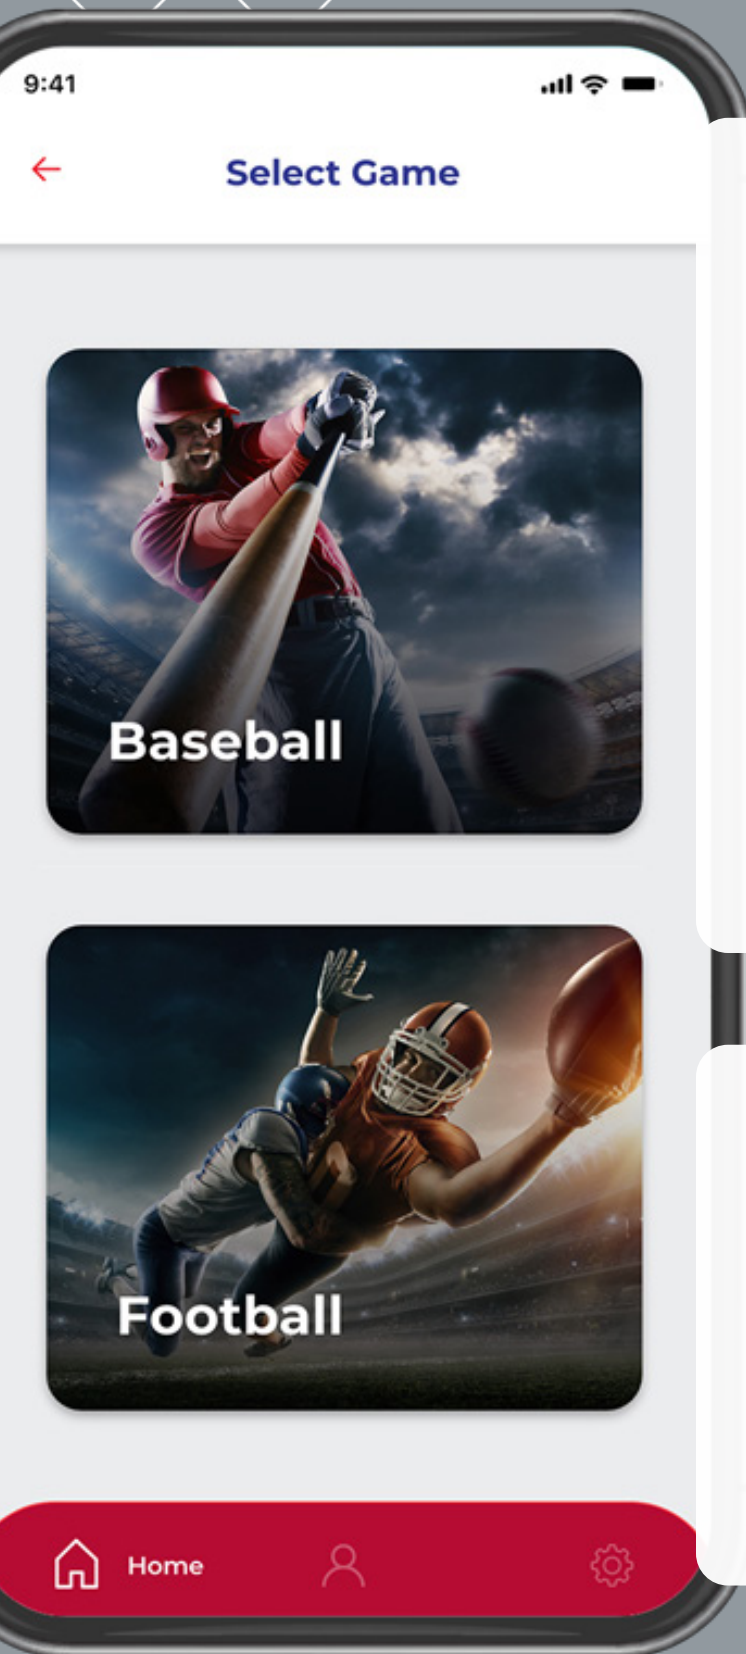

ODDS AND WINNINGS:

You win if you initially swipe the right way – How much you win depends on how much you put in on your side and how much was put in on the other. The app will tell you what your estimated winning is and will show that winnings change as bets come in.

The odds are made by the players playing in real time. You are playing those in the game and always have the option of setting up and running a private game if you choose.

RULES:

Rules for Baseball:

Bets are allowed between innings or after a run is scored in an inning. The game is score or no score, not do they score more than one run. There will be no new bets allowed after the inning starts (although a slight lag is inevitable).

Players that are playing in the inning will have the option to double their bet. Will the batter get the rbi or not? Will the pitcher work his way out of the inning? This is the opportunity to increase your winnings and separate from players on your side.

Rules for Football:

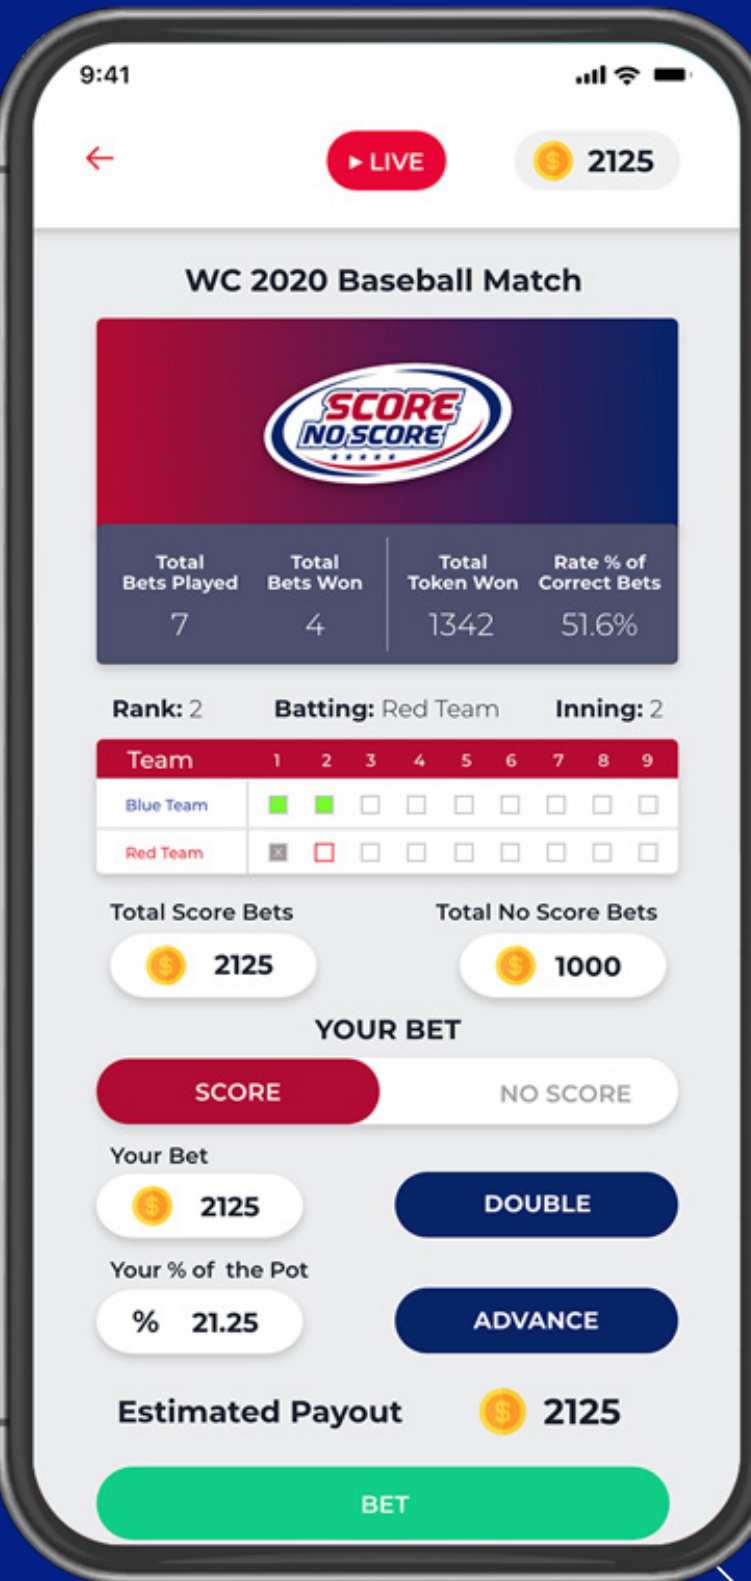

Players make their initial selection on the change of possession. Players will then be able to double their initial bet if the ball crosses the 50 yard line but no new bets after the ball crosses the 20 yard line. (There will be a slight lag in data and pace of the game)

STRATEGY:

the importance of setting up the second bet

The point of the game is to win as many tokens as you can. The best strategy will depend on the particular game and how players are playing. Players are ranked by tokens won. You can play it safe and go for the likely outcome and maybe win less but loose less often. It may be a better payoff to go with what seems a less likely outcome because of a better potential payoff. Timing the right move is the key.

If you bet more at the start you have the ability to increase your percent of the pot if you decide to increase the bet later. If you feel like your side will either score or stop the score. Then you will want to increase your initial bet. The second bet is the best opportunity to separate from other players and be the big winner.
