

The Bobby Williams Award:

Bobby Williams was a very special clown and an even more Special Person. He gave of himself, of his love, and of his talents, to each and every person he touched. Always clowning from the heart, Bobby had and made time for everyone. With unending enthusiasm, he was never too tired, too busy, or too sick to share happiness and love with others.

Bobby's total lack of ego, his courage, his genuine interest in people, his overwhelming support, his concern for his fellow man and his insatiable desire to improve the world through his clown ministry made him a role model for all of us. He will long be remembered for his contributions to the Art of Clowning. All of the wonderful qualities that measure a man, were accomplished, all the while dealing with his own enormous physical problems and setbacks, which he chose to ignore whenever possible. He wasn't ever looking for sympathy, but chose to make the day better for whatever he could contribute, inspire or encourage. His patience, understanding, and attitude helped maintain the SECA organization.

SECA remembers the contribution of this gentle soul by setting up the Bobby Williams Award. It is the highest award SECA offers. The recipient is someone who has the true heart of clown and demonstrates it by actions. It is based on a persons love of clowning, dedication to the Art, and willingness to share. If you know of someone that has inspired or encouraged you in your clowning growth period, please take the time to acknowledge them by nominating them for this very elite award.
