Passage:

Comprehension 1: The Fox and the Goat

A Fox, one day, fell into a deep well and could find no means of escape. Meanwhile, a Goat, overcome with thirst, came to the same well, and seeing the Fox, enquired the reason for which the fox was in the well. Concealing his sad plight under a merry guise, the Fox indulged in a lavish praise of the water, saying it was excellent beyond measure, and told the goat that he deliberately jumped in the well to enjoy its benefits.

He kept encouraging the goat to jump into the well. The Goat, mindful only of his thirst, thoughtlessly jumped down, but just as he drank, the Fox informed him of the difficulty they were both in and suggested a scheme for their common escape. "If," said he, "you will place your forefeet upon the wall and bend your head, I will run up your back and escape, and will help you out afterwards".

The Goat readily assented, and the Fox leaped upon his back. Steadying himself with the Goat's horns, he safely reached the mouth of the well and made off as fast as he could. When the Goat upbraided him for breaking his promise, he turned around and cried out, "You foolish old fellow! If you had as many brains in your head as you have hairs in your beard, you would never have gone down before you had inspected the way up, nor have exposed yourself to dangers from which you had no means of escape".

Comprehension 2: The Status of the Black Buck

In today's world, our wildlife is under extreme threat. As our fauna is facing a dearth of adequate shelter in forests, they are heading towards towns and hence get killed by hunters. Consequently, many animal species have either become extinct or are on the verge of extinction. The Black Buck is almost endangered and found only in two countries, Nepal and India.

In India, this antelope is found in many national parks like Guindy National Park, Point Calimere and Vellandu sanctuaries of Tamil Nadu, Rollapadu of Andhra Pradesh, few parts of Rajasthan and Haryana. As far as their habitat is concerned, they live in open grasslands, dry areas or thinly populated areas and near water resources. They live in the desert areas of Rajasthan and coastal areas because they cannot sustain cold climate. They are the fastest running animals on this planet.

Further, this animal is active during the day but slows down in its activities after mid-day. They are social beings. Hence, they move with their herds, which can vary from 3 to 23 mates. They cohabit twice in a year and give birth twice in a year.

Comprehension 3: The "Instant Coffee" vs. "Bread-Making" Attitude

A piano teacher described an interesting encounter she had had with a young lady who came to inquire about music lessons. The young lady asked her, "How long will this course take? My father tells me that it is in fashion now to be able to play musical instruments and that I should learn one quickly. I want something that will be quick, fast and easy like, like....” When the amused teacher explained that it would take a lifetime of meticulous practice to learn music, her face fell and, needless to say, she never came back.

The single most important factor that distinguishes those of us who succeed in any venture and those of us who don't is this 'instant coffee' attitude. Most of us want results quickly. We want to reach the top immediately and get worked up when things go wrong. Perseverance and patience are forgotten words. We get upset, frustrated, and angry when a skill or activity requires us to put in a lot of effort and time. We get dejected and want to give it up.

But such thinking serves no good. For, it doesn't solve the problem. Life is tough for those with an 'instant coffee' attitude. Success, real success and happiness come to those who have a 'bread-making' attitude—those who are willing to knead the dough, wait for hours for it to rise, only to punch it down and knead some more, wait for another couple of hours for it to rise again, and then bake it before it is ready to be eaten. Nothing is instantaneous. For every endeavour – whether in the area of career, academics, music, sports, relationships, physical fitness or even in spirituality – it is a long, arduous journey. Only if we are willing to put in the time, painstaking effort and have faith, can we get results.

Question 28:

Within the context of the author's metaphorical framework, how does the "bread-making" attitude serve as a counterpoint to the "instant coffee" mentality in the pursuit of long-term success?

- (A) It suggests that most life problems can be solved by simply waiting for a few hours without taking any physical action.
- (B) It emphasizes that real success is purely instantaneous and only requires the right "ingredients" rather than sustained effort.
- (C) It represents the necessity of engaging in repetitive, painstaking work and exercising patience while waiting for progress to manifest.
- (D) It argues that physical labor, such as kneading dough, is the only way to achieve academic or spiritual excellence.

Correct Ans: c

Solution:

Passage:

Comprehension 3: The "Instant Coffee" vs. "Bread-Making" Attitude

A piano teacher described an interesting encounter she had had with a young lady who came to inquire about music lessons. The young lady asked her, "How long will this course take? My father tells me that it is in fashion now to be able to play musical instruments and that I should learn one quickly. I want something that will be quick, fast and easy like, like...." When the amused teacher explained that it would take a lifetime of meticulous practice to learn music, her face fell and, needless to say, she never came back.

The single most important factor that distinguishes those of us who succeed in any venture and those of us who don't is this 'instant coffee' attitude. Most of us want results quickly. We want to reach the top immediately and get worked up when things go wrong. Perseverance and patience are forgotten words. We get upset, frustrated, and angry when a skill or activity requires us to put in a lot of effort and time. We get dejected and want to give it up.

But such thinking serves no good. For, it doesn't solve the problem. Life is tough for those with an 'instant coffee' attitude. Success, real success and happiness come to those who have a 'bread-making' attitude—those who are willing to knead the dough, wait for hours for it to rise, only to punch it down and knead some more, wait for another couple of hours for it to rise again, and then bake it before it is ready to be eaten. Nothing is instantaneous. For every endeavour – whether in the area of career, academics, music, sports, relationships, physical fitness or even in spirituality – it is a long, arduous journey. Only if we are willing to put in the time, painstaking effort and have faith, can we get results.

Read the comprehension carefully and answer the questions as per the comprehension.

Question 29:

What does the author identify as the primary reason why "instant coffee" solutions are ultimately ineffective for achieving significant life goals?

- (A) They require too much financial investment from the individual's parents or guardians.
- (B) They are invariably short-lived and frequently lead a person down the wrong track because they ignore the true nature of the journey.
- (C) They are too fashionable and therefore common among those who lead ordinary lives.
- (D) They focus too much on the process of "baking" rather than the initial stage of "kneading."

Correct Ans: b

On November 24, 2025, a historic ceremony at Rashtrapati Bhavan marked the commencement of the 53rd chapter of India's highest judicial office. The individual assuming this role, born in Hisar in 1962, followed the "Seniority Convention," a tradition that dictates the path of succession in the apex court. This individual succeeded Justice B.R. Gavai, whose own tenure was notable for its brevity and symbolic weight. Before reaching the pinnacle, the current incumbent's legal journey was expansive. Having started his practice in 1984, he rose to become the youngest Advocate General of Haryana in 2000. His career on the bench saw him serving as a permanent judge in the Punjab and Haryana High Court before he was moved north to head the Himachal Pradesh High Court. His elevation to the Supreme Court eventually occurred in May 2019, positioning him in the direct line of succession.

The current head of the judiciary inherits a daunting administrative landscape. With a backlog exceeding 90,000 pending matters, his roadmap emphasizes the resolution of long-standing Constitution Bench cases. He has specifically championed mediation as a "game-changer," suggesting that alternative dispute resolution is the key to unclogging the legal arteries of the nation. His term is finite, with a predetermined conclusion set for February 9, 2027, making his tenure approximately fifteen months long. This period is seen by legal experts as a window for "social engineering," focusing on restoring public confidence in the district-level judiciary and integrating technology to bridge the gap between the law and the common citizen.

As the dawn broke over the capital on August 15, 2025, the nation gathered to celebrate its transition into the final year of the eighth decade of freedom. While the previous year’s celebration focused on a broad future vision, the current assembly adopted a nomenclature that translates to “Renewed India” in its native linguistic root. This shift signalled a move toward a prosperous and safe nation by the time the calendar hits the centenary in 2047. The ramparts of the 17th-century Mughal monument hosted an address that lasted exactly 103 minutes, setting a new historical benchmark for duration. While the Prime Minister spoke to the masses, he shared the stage with a specific cohort known as the “Special Guests.” This group was not composed of foreign dignitaries, but rather 5,000 citizens from the grassroots. Among them were 50 of the city’s top-performing hygiene warriors (and their spouses), selected by zonal offices for their contribution to the city’s cleanliness, as well as 171 representatives from the social welfare sector.

The logistical lead for the year was the Indian Air Force, which synchronized the traditional flower-petal shower with a 21-Gun Salute. For the first time, this salute was performed using locally manufactured artillery, moving away from colonial-era equipment. Observers noted that this was the 79th instance of the tricolour being hoisted at this venue since the 1947 transition. Under the shadow of the fluttering fabric, the address celebrated the success of Operation Sindoor, a recent strategic victory. As the ceremony concluded, it was noted that the countdown to 2047 had officially moved into its final 22-year stretch.
