GOOD JOB!

Thank you! No, Thank you, Oh but Thank you.

to, Sue Chapin for stewarding in a masterful job announcing the groups especially on Sunday to, Ross Chapin for flogging his motorcycle back from North Carolina time to get carpal tunnel from waving two-day pass holders through the gate on Sunday morning.

to, Altha Graham for firing up the coffee pots 6 AM. Altha is also awarded Den Mother Of the Classic for 2011.

to, Clint Graham for the Star-Spangled Banner and for acquiring a classic cold.

to, Jennifer Joy for her single-minded focus on tracking down the numbers.

to, Mike Joy for great lunches and a simple effective method for counting the ground which appears to work even with a critical part missing.

to, Adrienne Logan for preserving the kitchen to, Harry Logan for driving the Subaru around and around and around while we picked up flotsam and jetsam, and for being on duty 6 days out of 6.

to, Pat Luce for stewarding and for salvaging ring four.

to, Todd Fox for working the gate like an old pro on Sunday.

to, Megan Martin for working the gate, the kitchen and the judges hospitality albeit not at the same time.

to, Steve Martin for taking the rube's money with style and grace.

to, Lois Metelski for turning a lost weekend into a winner by joining the Monday morning cleanup crew.

to, John Namachar for a new and better system of RV management and for rescuing Trudy/Judy's sentimental show lead, on which she finished her first champion.

to, Reba Namachar for working the kitchen and feeding the troops.

to, Gary Nestor for distributing about a million Show posters and flyers and for hand painting and hand raising the banners on the Fairgrounds fence.

to, Patti Pavetti for working hospitality and the gate.

to, Karen Robertson for dispensing knowledge, wisdom and good will to the whole spectrum of attendees.

to, Phyl Schraf for covering Karen's back.

to, Micki Sobota for delivering trophies via remote distribution, definitely the wave of the future.

to, Jan Stitt for stewarding and sharing her birthday.

to, Jinnie Stora for leadership, raffle prizes cum nibblies and for supporting the juniors.

to, Jean and Marty Kroll for stewarding.

a huge THANK YOU for making the 2011 Butler Autumn Classic a colossal success
