FUNCTIONAL SUBSTANCES:

HYALURONIC ACID 3 MOLECULAR WEIGHT:

with excellent moisturizing properties, against dry skin and cracking. It is featured into the dermis, where it binds many water molecules, ensuring turgor and proper hydration. After application to the skin, it creates a macromolecular layer on the stratum corneum which reduces TEWL, thus keeping the skin moisturized. Hyaluronic acid with high, low and medium molecular weight has triple action:

- It creates a film on the skin, avoiding water loss and increasing hydration.
- It has deeply moisturizing action, enhancing both firmness and skin elasticity.

- It holds water into medium/superficial layers of the epidermis in synergy with hyaluronic acid with high and low molecular weight

PANTHENOL: it is converted into pantothenic acid in the skin and has strong moisturizing, soothing, restructuring and energizing effects. It promotes the energy metabolism of skin cells and their optimum nutrition. Thanks to its soothing action, it is featured in emollient products, because it reduces both erythema and dermatitis.

ELASTIN: it has film-forming properties and moisturizing action. It's very rich in amino acids and provides a significant increase in skin hydration, elasticity and turgor.
