

Polar Fleece Blankets

Mercy Sews provides polar fleece blankets for newborns. Bishop Dennis told us that he uses the newborn blankets to encourage pregnant women to go to the local clinic to give birth to their babies. Pregnant Pygmy women often go into the woods to give birth unattended. Since these people have nothing, new blankets are great incentives, and could possibly be saving lives.

Purchase one yard of polar fleece fabric in either solid color or “culturally appropriate” print. Please no animal prints, cartoon characters, or sports logos. Simply cut the fabric (which generally runs 60 inches wide) in half to make two 36 inch by 30 inch blankets. Stitch a Mercy Sews label in a corner.
