

A Bedroom & Boudoir inspired by the Italian Renaissance.

I think the most beautiful spaces are the spaces which are shaped by many generations. This design employs several pieces of Renaissance-inspired furnishings, alongside a mix of contemporary furnishings and textiles. I'd like to believe this could be a room in a Milanese villa, owned by the same family for centuries.

Much of the architecture remains the same, aside from slightly larger windows and doors. An abundance of textiles evokes the opulence which a merchantile family would be used to. Further, the muted and neutral patette of the space could embody the restraint which a Christian household would uphold. The artwork chosen for this space is a collection of majority oil painting, accompanied by a couple medieval illustrations and an abstract piece.

ART PIECES
Prints of Woodblock Illustrations from Medieval Book, c. 1476
$16

FURNISHING
Italian Renaissance Walnut Queen Headboard
$16,500

LIGHTING FIXTURE
1950s Horse Table Lamp with Bronze Patina
$950

FURNISHING
19th Century Carved Walnut Renaissance Side Table
$5,590

LIGHTING FIXTURE
Rare Early 1900 Jugendstil Broze Pendant with Six Alabaster Shades
$2,979.13

FLOORING MATERIAL
Vintage Afghani Turkoman Rug with Floral
Detailing
$3,650

FLOORING MATERIAL
Distressed Antique Persian Tabriz Rug with Modern Rustic English Style
$8,999

FURNISHING
19th Century French Petite Foot Stool with Aubusson
$1,045

FURNISHING
Antique Gilt Empire Trumeau Mirror, Foxed, c. 1820
$1,729.67