

Paid Part-Time Job in a Medical & Scientific Setting

Are you interested in a scientific or medical career and looking for hands-on experience? Our allergy & immunology practice is currently seeking a motivated individual to join our lab.

Key Details:

- Hands-on Experience: The position is in our allergy serum mixing lab. It will provide the chance to directly work with physicians, physician assistant, and other medical staff. You will also gain valuable experience in a thriving medical practice to allow for “real world” experience.
- Competitive Pay: Enjoy above-average earnings for a part-time position of this kind and the opportunity to grow within our office.
- Flexible Hours: We can work with your school and life schedule. Only 5-10 hours per week are necessary to start.
- Enhance Your Professional School Application: We have had both pre- and post-graduates work at our office who have progressed on to graduate, nursing, physician assistant and medical school.
- Exciting and Developing Field: The sciences of Allergy & Immunology are growing rapidly though this area is often not covered in depth during professional school curriculum. Your learning and experience at our office could help set you apart!

Requirements:

- Minimum 1-year commitment.
- Interest in a scientific and/or medical career.
- Good academic standing at your current institution.

Contact us to Apply:

- Please email Lydia Guzman at lguzman@allergyspecialists.us

OR

- Scan QR code

We look forward to hearing from you!