WHY THIS SESSION MATTERS

Most professionals have been told to work hard, find a mentor, and build their network. But one mentor or a network filled with similar perspectives can only take you so far.

The better question isn't simply, "How will I get where I want to go?" It's "Who do I need around me to help me get there?"

In this interactive session, participants will learn how to build a Personal Board of Directors: an intentional mix of mentors, sponsors, allies, and trusted supporters who provide perspective, challenge, guidance, and access. They will map and analyze their current board, identify gaps and missing perspectives, and determine the relationships they need next.

Participants leave with a practical plan to strengthen and expand the relationships that can help them make better decisions, navigate change, and create momentum in their careers.

AUDIENCE TAKEAWAYS

- 01 Build the right mix of relationships based on your goals, career stage, and current needs.
- 02 Identify strengths, gaps, and missing perspectives in your current Personal Board of Directors.
- 03 Create a practical action plan to strengthen key relationships and intentionally expand your network.
