Much has been happening.....

Many of you will know that we had a very successful spring market as well as a few workshops. We caught up with some old friends, and made some new. Hopefully we will be able to do this again, closer to Christmas to help you fill your stocking.

Late September we were blessed with the lovely ladies from CWA for a morning of demonstrating and discussions. YES! They brought the scones, and more!! Tummies were full, lessons learned and a couple of kits purchased here and there.

The famous CWA Scones

Frequently Asked Questions: How does one know, you are buying a good quality fabric?

- If you see the print through the fabric, one will know it has been printed through and not just printed on the surface. Surface prints fade quickly.
- With a good quality fabric you should be able to put it against your mouth and breathe through it. If not, you are probably working with a cotton sateen. With cotton sateen, the needle actually breaks the fibres instead of stitching between them.
- These days a lot of patchwork fabrics are coming through with little or no sizing (or stiffness). "Crisp", is a great fabric stiffener (starch) which can be used to add body and strength to the fabric. This is available at most supermarkets. We recommend using fabric starch on fabrics prior to cutting.
