5 Costly Mistakes to Avoid When Selling Your Home

Thinking about selling your home? While it can lead to a nice payout, the process can be tricky! Here are five common mistakes to steer clear of to ensure a smooth and successful sale:

1. Pricing Incorrectly:

Set the price too high, and buyers will be turned off. Set it too low, and you risk leaving money on the table. Work with one of my trusted, top-notch listing agents to find the perfect price based on up-to-date market data.

2. Overlooking Small Repairs:

Cracks, dents, and minor flaws may seem insignificant to you, but they can send the wrong message to buyers. A few repairs can add thousands to your final sale price!

3. Using Low-Quality Photos :

Buyers are browsing online, so your listing needs to stand out! Low-quality photos won't catch their attention. Professional photos can make all the difference in getting buyers through the door.

4. Forgoing Staging :

Staging makes your home shine, both in photos and in person. A well-staged home can lead to quicker sales and higher offers. Clean, declutter, and let the professionals help make your space look irresistible!

5. Refusing to Negotiate :

Sticking to your price without any flexibility can hurt your chances of a successful sale. A little negotiation can go a long way in sealing the deal. Work with an experienced agent who knows how to handle negotiations!

How do Reverse Mortgages work?

Do you know an elderly homeowner (aged 55+) who is equity rich but cash poor? A reverse mortgage might be the solution for them!

Here's how it works:

- ◆ Eligibility: Must be 55 or older and live in the home as their primary residence.
- ◆ Access to Funds: They can tap into up to 55% of their home's equity.
- ◆ Repayment: No monthly mortgage payments! The loan is repaid when they sell the home or no longer live in it.

A reverse mortgage can be a great option for seniors looking to supplement retirement income, but it's important to understand the pros and cons before deciding.
