London
a precious doll for Christmas
that she accidentally
broke,
after watching
her father
for years
manage
his own business
and mother
always doing
crafts,
she decided to make floral
soap
bouquets
and sell
them
for Mother's

Day.
Once
she
made
the money
to replace
doll, we saw
other kids at
business
showcase
in the mall
and
decided
in that moment
what
she wanted
to do.
Her and
her
father
worked on new ideas
and

flavors
for
months before
she received
not just any lemonade
stand
but a
bar for Christmas.
London
was eight turning 9 when
she took on
dream
to become a true
young
entrepreneur.
London
has been a vendor
at

Young Entrepreneur Showcase
in Dadeland
Mall
hosted by Produced
with Purpose,
as well
as Wynwood's Entrepreneur
Fair, Overtown
Music
and
Arts
Festival,
Miami
Gardens
Black
Heritage
Festival
by her aunt Commissioner
Barbara
Jordan,
Pop-up

shop
for New Orleans
well-
known Essence
Festival,
etc. she has also been honored
by NANBPWC.

London
motivated
to buy a toy
when
she started making homemade floral
soap
realizing
that she enjoyed
different

flavor
lemonades
even more.
She
decided
that she
wanted
to share
something
she loves
with
others
so she could make
money
to help
under resource children
and animals.

Has it
smooth
road?

It has
not been an easy

because London
first
started
just to make a little extra
money
to help
and to our surprise,
demand
grew causing her to rebrand
her
image
and
marketing.
She
also does this struggling
with being diagnosed

ADHD.
She
loves
talking
people
but sometimes she gets
shy. A story
that she wants
to address in one of her future
books of the Edan's
World
Series
she
authored.

So let's switch gears a bit and go into
the Londonade

story.
Tell us
about
the
business.

Londonade
is a gourmet flavored
lemonade
brand.

Lemonade
is the specialty.

The
absolute
most popular flavor is
her
cotton

Candy
flavored
lemonade.

adventures
and
acknowledgments
that Londonade

truly
rewarding.
London
able to have her first
backpack
drive
and preparing for her first toy
drive.
She is
ten
old and determined
to
change
concept of a
lemonade
stand.
She is
to inspire kids all around.

London

Josara

is also an author.

How do
you
think
the industry
will change
over
the
next decade?

dreams
that her
will be sold in stores
all over
and
that she
will eventually have a storefront
that
will
have
hands
on learning

for kids
where they can come
and create
different
and
design
their own
cups
and
shirts
and also sell
her
merchandise
with
the
character
from
her
books.
The
character's name is
Edan
and she

book
